FOUR

AS a record of four brief years in the long history of our High School, and as a lasting remembrance of our happy years together, we, the members of the Class of 1934, present this book.

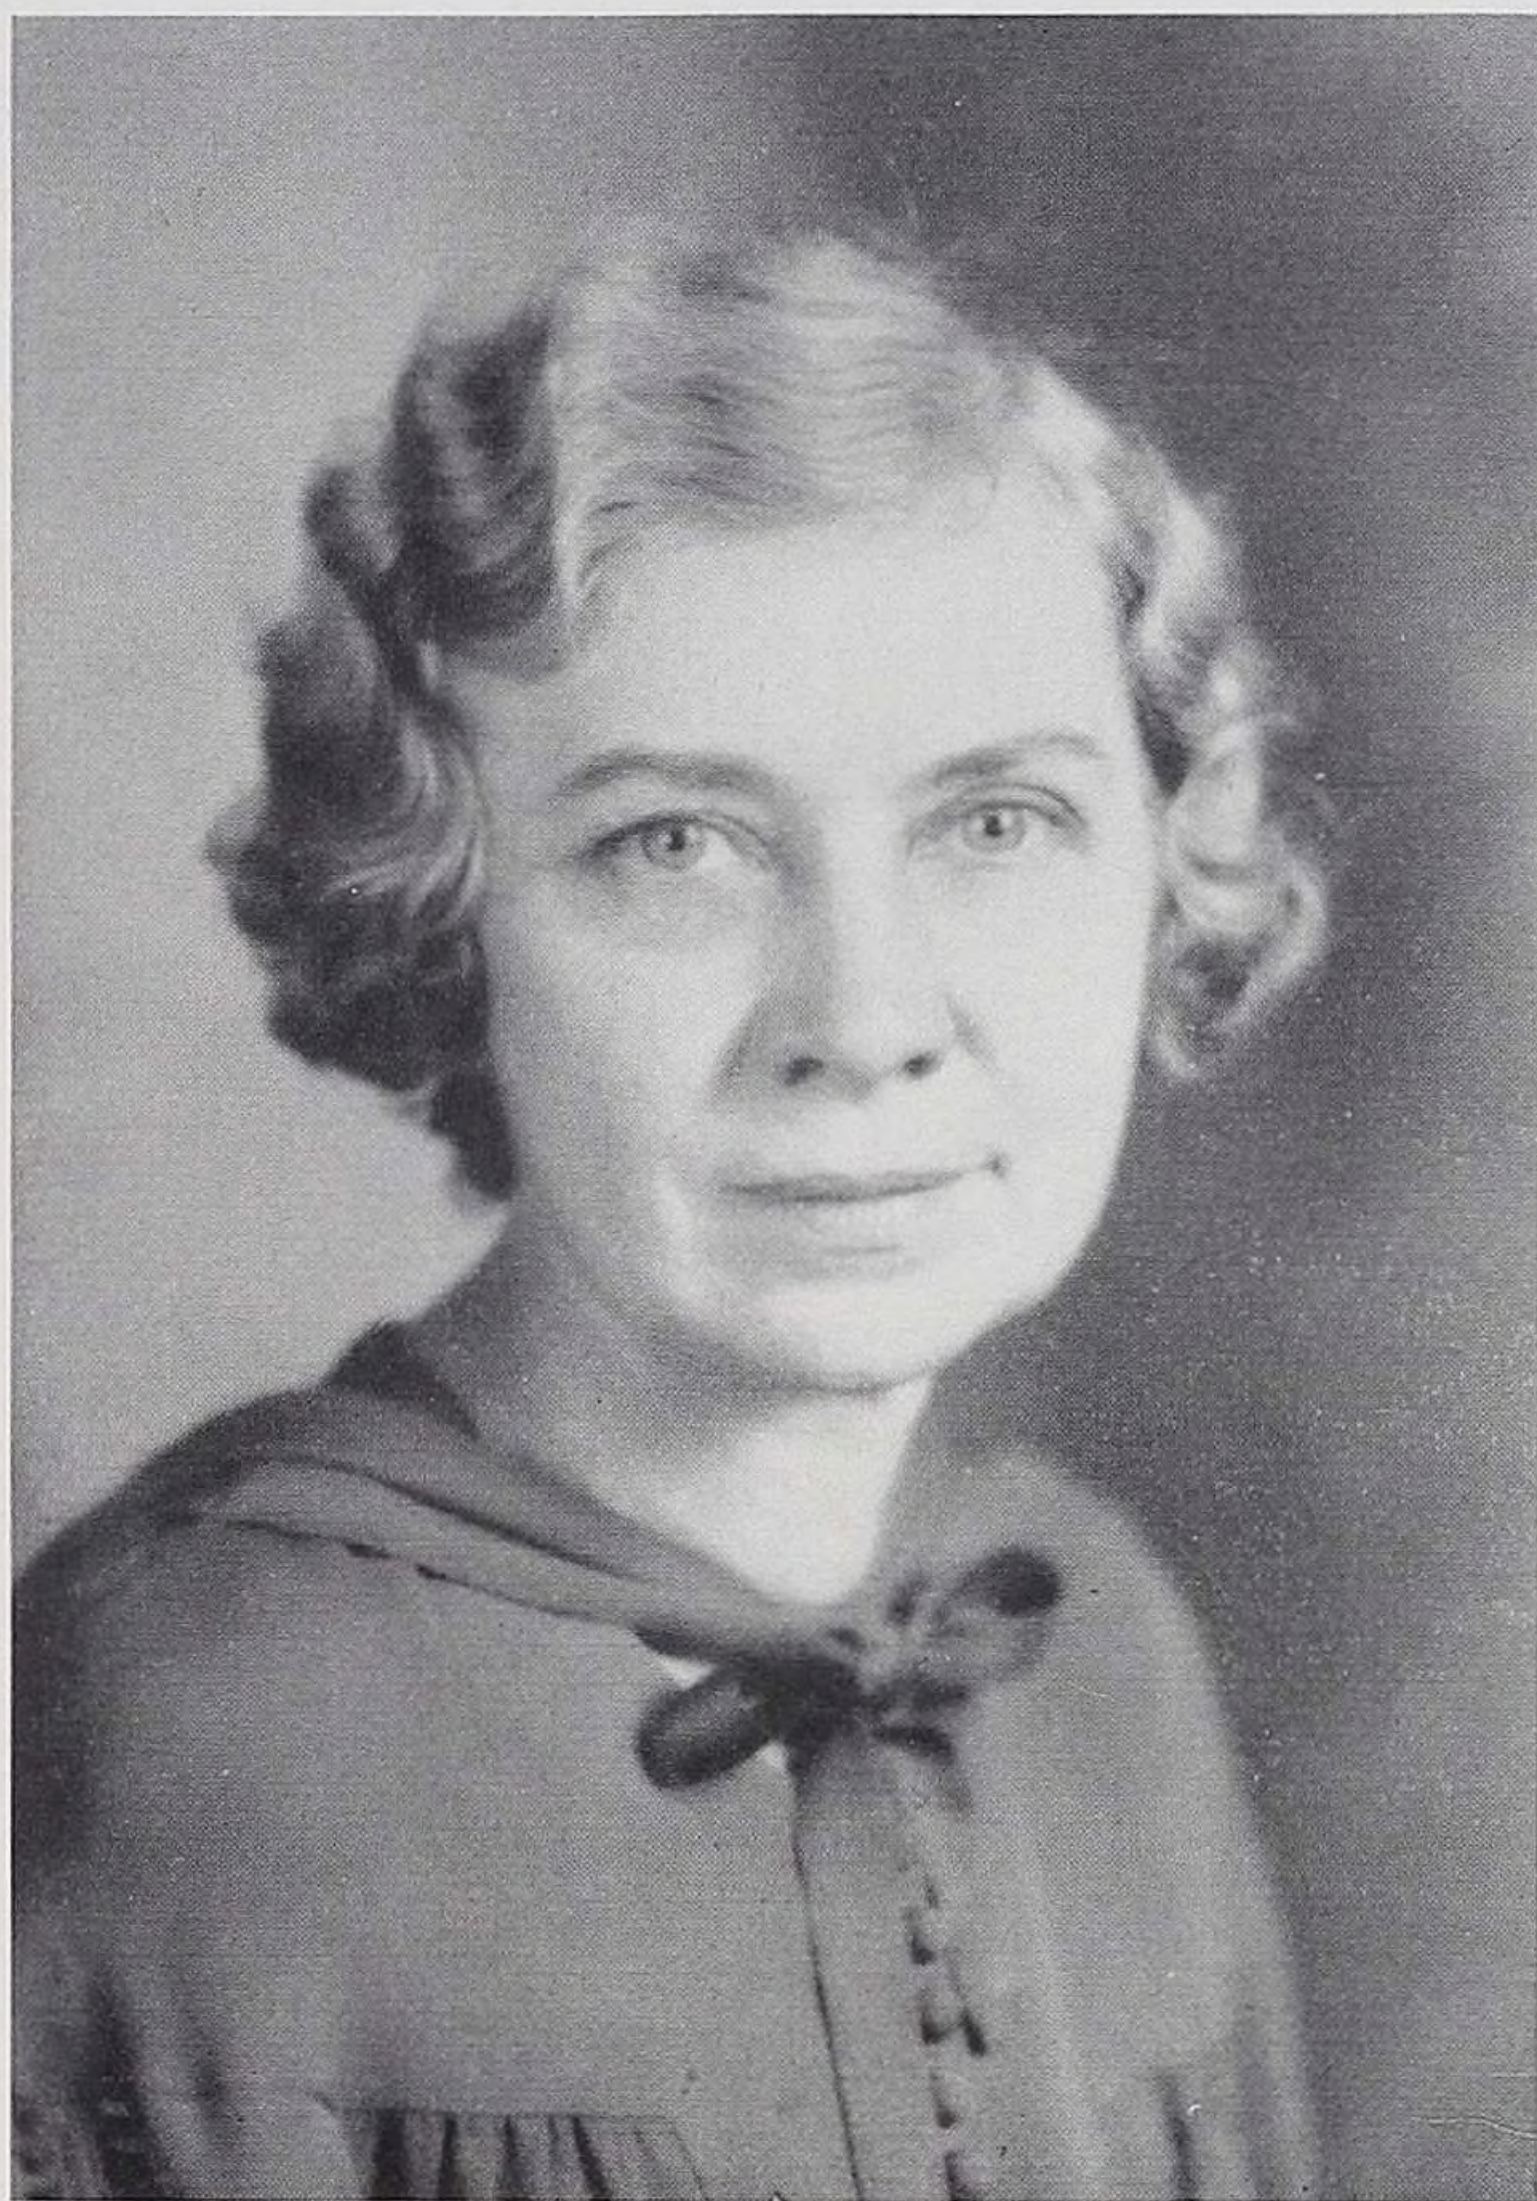

OLEAN HIGH SCHOOL

DEDICATION

TO Miss Ball, for her artistic inspiration to many pupils, and for her helpfulness in the publication of many a Congress, we dedicate this book as an expression of our appreciation.

New School Song

Stand up and cheer,
Stand up and cheer for Olean High School!
For today we raise
The red and gold above the rest, above the rest!

Our boys are playing
And they are bound to win today,
We've got the rep, we've got the rep,
We've got the pep, we've got the pep,
And we're all for Olean High.

Rah! Rah! Rah!

Prayer for a Voyage

MAY we set sail into the sunset.

May we start our journey
At the first glow of light,
That comes after the dark.
May we not tire too early on our voyage,
But when it is hard,
May we have strength and courage to sail on.
May we forget that the way seems very long.
May we remember that our journey is but for once.
May we have hope at all times.
When it grows dark and storms come,
May we hope for the dawn.
If our companions are lost to our sight,
May we have courage to sail on alone,
And not turn back.
May we have faith in ourselves and our purpose,
So that we will reach the land we seek.
May the spirit of adventure within us not die,
But burn brighter as we go farther toward our goal.
And so when the sun is descending,
And we know that our voyage is done,
May we know that we have been worthy
To sail on to the setting sun.

History of the Senior Class of 1934

On a September morning, four short years ago, a group of inexperienced Freshmen were welcomed by Miss Fitzgerald at the doors of the Olean High School. They did not realize then what it meant to be one of those mighty Seniors. It was but the first step on the ladder to success. These Freshmen began their year's work by electing officers to conduct their class. They were chosen as follows:

President	Robert Ewing
Vice President	Harriett Lundberg
Secretary	Edna Biehler
Treasurer	Paul Kane
Student Council Member	Earl Kinney
Class Adviser	Miss Fitzgerald

The class then organized a very good orchestra of their own. They were represented in both the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs. Many young, energetic boys entered track, and a few were allowed the honor of a seat on the bench of the mighty football team.

As this was the period before the discontinuation of the Assemblies, several plays were given by the class. At the Competitive Assembly the Freshmen presented a delightful play entitled "Do You Believe in Luck?" Many students from the class revealed their talent in this play.

A year went by, and summer vacation came. The freshmen were proud of their first successful year.

The Freshmen came back in September, climbed up a step on the ladder, and found themselves Sophomores. Officers were elected as follows:

President	Paul Kane
Vice President	Jeanne LeCompte
Secretary	Jane Hannon
Treasurer	Robert Ewing
Student Council Members	Mary Kime and Earl Kinney
Class Adviser	Miss Herzog

These courageous Sophomores worked hard to maintain their position at high school. The class was not as active as it was the preceeding year. The studies had become more difficult, and more time was devoted to them.

The third step of the ladder was reached and, being Juniors, they could stand side by side with these Seniors and not flinch at the sight of them, as they had three years previously. Again officers were elected:

President	Wesley Leonard
Vice President	Jane Hannon
Secretary	Percy June Kinsel
Treasurer	Billy Donelly
Student Council Members	{ Bernard Dunne Ruth Perkins Tom Previglion
Class Adviser	Miss Wombough

CONGRESS • 1934

It was not long until they decided to buy pins to distinguish them as Juniors. In the spring the annual Junior-Senior Prom was held under the auspices of the Junior Class and proved to be one of the most successful events of the School year. In June came the Regents and a glorious vacation.

With a sigh of regret but with a feeling of pride that only Seniors can possess, we stood on the top and last step of the ladder. The following were elected officers of the Senior Class:

President	Paul Kane
Vice President	Mary Kime
Secretary	Aletha Johnson
Treasurer	Jack Lee
Student Council Members	{ Guerino Butchello Stewart Williams Margaret Ried Rita Pierce
Class Adviser	Miss Hobart

During the course of our last year at high school, rings were chosen, the Senior Play was given, and the Year Book prepared which was one of the main worries of the Journalism Class. Good times were had by all, and many friendships formed.

During the few months before graduation, many social functions were enjoyed by the Seniors as well as the other students,—among them the Junior-Senior Prom, the Wayside, and farewell parties before the final departure. For the graduates, it has been four years of never-to-be-forgotten happiness.

So we close the year with another graduation of a Senior Class from the Alma Mater, and may the Spirit of the Class of 1934 carry them splendidly on into a happy future.

ALETHA JOHNSON, Secretary of Class '34

Class Will

Having completed our course of study at O. H. S., we, the undersigned, before assuming our studies at the Law (es) school at Ossining, do hereby, in the presence of Paul Kane and Miss Hobart, formulate our first will and testament.

- I. To the new Journalism Class, we bequeath another Marilyn Wright—Wright?
- II. To Miss Hobart, another Paul Kane.
- III. To the "Dime Delivery," Katherine's Austin.
- IV. To Jimmy Crowley, roller skater, Kenny Alger's Ford.
- V. To "Mimsy" Mooney, a "Strawberry Roan."
- VI. To Charlie Edel, someone to take "Rubinoff" Simpson's Place.
- VII. To the new Study Hall monitors, an amplifying system.
- VIII. To Pete Houte, Arnie Collins' basketball ability.
- IX. To Nelda Randall, successorship to Ann Leaf.
- X. To Mary Catherine Simmons, Tom Previglian's culinary ability.
- XI. Jim's Vitale(ity) is left as a fitting gift to Ruthie Lang.
- XII. Betty Waldeck leaves Tommy.—Kinda hard on Tom.
- XIII. Kathleen Herold's punctuality we leave to her sister. "It runs in the family."
- XV. Rita Pierce's ability as a bookkeeper goes to Jack Farragher.
- XIV. Dorothy Ahrens leaves her meat delivery business to Margaret Klice.
- XVI. Mary Olds is bequeathed nothing. She's got everything.
- XVII. Lu Vern Gardner leaves to the Class of 1935 a string of broken hearts.
- XVIII. Lucille Martz would leave the bus line,—if it were hers.
- XIX. The departure of "Chink" leaves a Payn in the heart of many a teacher.
- XX. So that Mary will not be Madwid us, we leave her popularity to her sister.
- XXI. Ruth Perkins leaves two sisters and a brother—it's the best she could do.
- XXII. Harry Welch leaves nothing—that is, nothing but the things he couldn't carry off.
- XXIII. Alice Taylor (no relation to "Billiard" Gus) leaves an enviable record for sister Ruth to copy.
- XXIV. To M. Wesley Smith, we give Stewie Williams' "J."
- XXV. To Martin Sutter, Purcey Kinsel's talkativeness.
- XXVI. To Stanley McMillan, John Golden's beard.
- XXVII. Mary Jane Van Campen is given a scholarship to St. Bonas.
- XXVIII. Bob Hirliman's studiousness goes to Art Black.
- XXIX. Audrey Carver's singing voice to Rosa Ponselle.
- XXX. Marian Coughlin leaves her smile to "Sonny" Harter.
- XXXI. Lawrence Clark's slick salesmanship is bequeathed to the Business Manager of next year's Congress.
- XXXII. Jack Lee leaves his thermos-bottle to Jane Crowley.
- XXXIII. And so, with our sheepskins, caps, and gowns, we fade out of the picture, leaving Leonard Bear.

The Mystery of the Golden Tooth or The Class of '34 in '53

"Well, John, there it is! Mike Abdo and Vic Jodash have laid the last course of brick, Darrell Kautz and Ken Alger have tacked up the last slab of woodwork, Ray Newberry and Mel Baker have splashed on their last daub of paint, Bill McAdam and Bob Milne have screwed down the last seat, and—well—there's the new school!" Big Jim Driscoll, architect, gazed at Golden, his partner, with unconcealed satisfaction.

"Yeah, that's right," yawned John through a heavy beard. "And tomorrow Mayor Arnie Collins is going to dedicate the building and a new statue to Stewy Williams."

"At what time?" queried Bob McGavisk, hod carrier, who was eavesdropping nearby.

"Nine A. M.," supplied Paul Nodler, folding his camera after completing a photo of the new structure.

"Well, in that case," suggested McGavisk, "we of the class of '34 should all be on hand to see our ex-classmates honored."

"Good idea," roared the chorus.

Night descended on the edifice on the hill. The building presented an awesome sight in the darkness. Nothing was astir, but three figures that were creeping stealthily toward the veiled statue. Two of the slouched forms carried a pair of pinchers. Unaware of each others presence, all three groped forward simultaneously. A shout of pain rent the night calm, and the figures departed for parts unknown. Earl Kinney, who had forsaken his station as guard of the monument to catch a few winks of sleep, arose but attempted no apprehension of the retreating plier wielders.

As surely as the night had fallen, so came the dawn. With a note from the diamond studded flute of town crier, June Seeley, came a clatter of glass as Ernest Lawton and "Mike" Lang, employees of the Butchello-LeValley Dairy, ran from door to door. Chesty Klice came to the window of his confectionery and viewed the passing panorama.

Jack Lee and Frank Wallon, wearing the paint stained overalls of Lipman and Hunt, Bridge Builders, were hastening off to repaint a trestle. The city's leading piano tuner, Thomas Previglian, Esquire, was hurrying to the Henneman residence to tune Kathryn's violin strings and vocal cords. "Skip" Morgan and Bill O'Reilly, honest plumbers, rushed toward Kate Fitzpatrick's on the first call of the day, allowing ample time to return for forgotten tools before the regular starting hours. Leo Barrett and Ed Burger drove by, bound for the Kelly-Johnson rooming house to install a furnace. Marjorie Reddy, stenographer, sped past to her place in the law offices of Murrin, Durkin, and Olson.

Across the street from Klice's, Ray Ward and John Bubbs were closing their pharmacy, preparatory to repairing to the high school campus for the scheduled dedication ceremonies. As Ward left the store and meandered schoolward in his "Chevy," students of former years followed close behind.

By 9 A. M. the sun had risen high in the heavens, casting a golden glow on the new school and the statue in front of it. With true school spirit, the class of '34 had assembled to pay homage to their old mate. Platforms had been erected on both sides of the monument. Gracing one section were Principal John Hollod, vice-principal M. Ens-worth Payn, and recent faculty additions including Concepta Morrica, Bertha Moses, Mamie Shewairy, Cecelia Panus, Laura Wiles, Lula McGavisk, Gertrude Frost, Louise Harbeck, Adelaide McClure, and Kathleen McAuliffe.

At the opposite side sat Mayor Collins, City Treasurer Hugh Boyd, Aldermen George Gibbons, George Gluck, Clayton Diebler, Lawrence Clark, George Joseph, Joseph Hoganson, Glenn Schubert, Frederic Royer, Abe Shankman, Paul Quinn, and Robert Caffo, and the Men's Aid of the W. T. C. U. boasting such members as John Pancio, Neil Connelly, Russell Brushingham, Harold Bell, Robert Bartley, Harold Osgood, John Petrucelli, John Thomas, Eber Bennett, William Lyons, and Jim McCready.

A rotund, unidentified gentleman sat nearby, combing the fringes of hair that bordered his shiny cranium. Jim Slavin and Chuck Snyder stood near the canvas shroud, ready to expose the effigy of the great sportsman.

Mayor Collins arose and gave vent to:

"My friends and former classmates, we are gathered on this hallowed spot today to pay homage to one of our former associates, one, who since his exit from O. H. S., has gained fame in the field of athletics and journalism. I speak of J. Stewart Williams.

"In his honor, the Trembling Troubadors, Gladys Apitzsch, Dot Ahrens, Barbara Gabler, Rose Gasdick, Mary Garvey, Catherine O'Neil, Lucille Martz, Phyliss McEvelia, Emmogene Nolder, and Ruth Morris will sing, by the light of Kate Cheladyn's lamp, 'Rubinoff' Simpson's symphony."

The Troubadors, under the baton of Marion Coughlin, spread the aria over a large area and Collins, amid forced applause, once more arose and spoke.

"My friends, the band from Gardner Gulley will now favor us with a selection, written for this occasion by Frances Bridge and Marjy Ackley, and entitled 'Build a Little Hope Chest.'"

John Burleigh, Howard Keller, Loren Miller, Maynard Wright, Grandon Warner, Carl Weldon, Dick Dawson, "Shorty" Chevassu, and Ed. Chrzan, placing sundry clarinets, baritones, and piano fortes to their lips, disregarded the Mayor's announcement and brought forth portions of "Four Letter Varsity Man" rendered with sufficient proficiency in view of the fact that Williams had won but three different letters.

The invincible Collins again arose. "And now, my friends, before we unveil this statue, Senator Paul N. Kane, M. D., of Washington, D. C., will give a brief resume of school experiences with Mr. Williams."

The rotund gentleman, who with his fringed head and dignified stomach had sauntered down from the capitol, drew a deep breath, drew himself to his feet, drew a note pad from his pocket, drew forth a cigar from his mouth, and proceeded to draw a retrospective portrait of his old associate.

Appreciative of Kane's state of nerves, Barbara Buley, Thelma Patterson, Anne Petz, Helen Weaver, Mary Van Campen, Betty Bender, Helen Cords, Angelina Bilotta, Betty Harter, Betty Ibough, and Dorothy McGavish loudly whistled "Got the Jitters." Kane spoke.

"Looking back on my senior year at Olean High School, I recall several incidents involving J. Stewart, one event in particular being outstanding. It came about when Nick Rogers, now manager of the Fighting Frenchmen at Notre Dame, accompanied Ruth Perkins to a la crosse game at the State Armory. Williams, insensed, met Rogers in fistic combat behind the Linnan-Rucinski gym on Laurens Street. Chivalrous Nick, feeling he was in the right, was able to overpower the giant athlete and in so doing knocked out one of his front teeth.

CONGRESS • 1934

"In this statue which Betty Ostergard and Rose Lee have sculptured, this missing molar has been represented by a tooth of shining gold, presented by Vivien Smith, Rose Abbott and Harriett Lundberg, admirers of Stew's physique. When Miss Mary Grear and Madame Mary Kime, assisted by Mr. Slavin and Brother Snyder, remove the canvas veil, I request you to notice the symmetry in Williams' "Adams Apple," the defiant glare enchiseled in his azure eyes, and—above all—the tooth of gold! You may draw the veil!"

Kime and Grear tugged at the ropes, the drapery fell to the ground, and the monument shone forth in all its splendor. Instantly a shout arose. The baffled Senator glanced at the statue.

"The tooth is missing!" he gasped.

The crowd burst into a roar. There was a commotion on its outskirts. Two figures, each representing a different sex, dashed forward. Curious policemen gave chase. Rose Street and Kathryn Walsh, lady detectives of the Betty Waldeck Detective Agency, saw an opportunity for service to their country, and joined the chase.

In rapid succession, the policemen and detectives followed the departing fugitives down Sullivan Street through the rear of the Ried-Ried and Wykoff-Wykoff Bakery, up the fire escape of Ruth Rottstedt's Dress Shoppe, through the wash dress department to the first floor exit on Union Street. Still having enough wind to have successfully dodged Floyd Spino and Jim Vitale, who were sweeping refuse from in front of St. John's printing shop, the pursuers and the pursued rushed into Chuck Carlson's bowling alley, scored six successive "strikes," and amid the curses of the pin boys Al Mallery and "Yonk" Mishanec, left by the back door for Pylipow's grocery. Passing into the street from the grocery, they spied Mel Fremming's gambling Casino, and halted to place a bet on Jim Ursoy's "Iva Itch," running against Lymie Whipple's "Can Twin" at the Dossi Downs. They pondered too long in securing the information that Eileen Varney had defeated Theresa Walsh for the chess championship of Buffalo Street, and were overtaken and captured.

When the prisoners entered the jail, Alice Taylor, the court stenographer, leaped to her feet and shouted, "Why, that's Purcey Kinsel and John Padlo!"

Purcey and John, for the culprits really were they, nervously bit their tinted fingernails.

"Order in the court!" bellowed Judge Paul Bergsten. "I thank you for your identifications. Turnkey Wheeler, lock the prisoners up for a few moments. Miss Taylor, call in the Jury!"

Alice went to the door, blew a note on her dog whistle, and half an hour later Ina Hall, Edna Hamley, Jane Ackley, Marion Becker, Jane Whalen, Roberta Travis, Marguerite Wuethrich, Betty Whiting, Ida Solomon, Dorothy Scott, Marion Rogers and foreman Mary Clarke filed into the jury box.

Meanwhile, in the lockup, Kinsel and Padlo conversed with other desperados there.

"What are you in for, Mickey?"

"I fractured Paul Wenke's head with a ball bat when he asked me if I had any Italian ancestors," answered Welch.

"What brought you here, Rita?"

"A car I stole from Helen Shaffer," Pierced Rita.

"I took Jim Brooks' fur lined suspenders," supplied "Spence" Weber without being questioned.

CONGRESS • 1934

"I stole a wink of sleep between editions at Comfort's Daily News Office, and Beulah and Mildred sent me up," squeaked reporter June Eldridge.

"I cut John Kloc's neck when I tried to shave him with a hunting knife," volunteered Ed Cashimere. "What did you do?"

"I took a tooth from that new statue of 'Stew' Williams," returned Purcey.

"That's what you think," growled Padlo, displaying a vacant spot in his facial cavity. "I was there at the statue, getting a bunch of garlic I had left there since lunch time, and my mouth got in the way of your pliers. When you ran away from the dedication ceremonies, I decided that you had the tooth with you. Give it to me."

Purcey handed over the metal incisor and ruminated, "Well, if this is your tooth, who's got the one from the statue?"

The long meditative silence which followed the question was broken by Wheeler's command for the prisoners to enter the court room.

"Miss Kinsel and Mr. Padlo," roared the judge, "you are charged with pilfering a golden tooth from the mouth of a marble image of J. Stewart Williams. Did you not commit this crime?"

"No! I took Mr. Padlo's tooth (show him, John) but not Mr. Williams'," Purcey trembled.

"If you took one tooth, you probably took both. Jurymen, you all see the conclusive evidence that Miss Kinsel and Mr. Padlo are co-partners in the crime of stealing the golden tooth, and I charge you to return a fair verdict."

"Guilty!" roared the multitude from the jury box.

"Not guilty!" roared Betty Quirin, June Clair, Margaret Ellison, Marie Martinelli, Jane Malone, Mary Madwid, Dorothy Legler, Helen Havens, and Edna McBride, representing the Ladies Auxiliary of the Boys' Hi-Y Club.

"In view of this latter decision, the prisoners may go free."

"T'anks judge," grinned Purcey.

"And now the court will adjourn to the High School campus, where the statue is being dedicated."

Kane, whom we had last seen on the speaker's platform, had given way to a vocal trio composed of Anna Macknica, Margery Lyon, Nina LaCavera, Audrey Carver, and Jeannette Baresel and was now leaving a bench where Grace Davis, Sue Dieteman, Elizabeth Farris, Wesley Leonard, Jim Nolan and Ken O'Brien were playing "Tit-Tat-Toe." He once more arose to speak.

"We have been informed that Purcey Kinsel and John Padlo, allegedly the thieves of Williams' gold tooth, have been acquitted. The tooth has not been found, and consequently we have nothing with which to fill the vacancy in the statue's mouth. With the ugly gap there, the ceremony cannot go on."

"Here, Palsy!" Kathleen Herold and Katherine Austin thrust forth their hands. In them were sheets of tin foil.

Kane seized the paper, formed it into a cube, and placed it in Williams' mouth. With the new silver tooth, as well as his face, glowing in the sunlight, Kane again faced his audience. He pulled his handkerchief from his watch pocket to wipe the perspiration from his head. A shiny lump of metal fell to the ground at his feet. It was the golden tooth!

As Freshmen and Sophomores our interests have been principally on our studies and affairs of the school. As Juniors we try to be an example to the lower-classmen, by faithful attendance at class meetings, and by a more active participation in extra curricular activities.

In athletics the Juniors have proved their mettle. The Junior girls won the basketball championship. They also won second place in soccer. Many Junior boys received letters in football and basketball.

Even in the matters of finance the Juniors are successful—thanks to the Parent-Teacher Association which held a dime dance giving the profits to the Junior class. This is noteworthy because it meant a Junior prom for the departing Seniors.

Hail the valiant Sophomore, clad in longer skirts and pants;
 No longer needing spinach, and at last,—he's learned to dance!
 Last year our milk was just plain white, and now it's chocolate flavored.
 Last year the teachers pitied us, but now we are less favored.
 We're left alone to find our way through halls, and stairs, and doors;

It would disgrace our dignity to ask,—as Sophomores!
 The girls have lost hair ribbons too, and knickers are passe.
 We have the dignity of age; we show it every day.
 Of course we must sometimes be wrong, but we have pomp, and pride.
 Although it's just our second year, we must be dignified!
 We thank the gallant P. T. A. for the dance they gave for us:
 The best of class activities, we'd have that much or bust!
 And leaving you these thoughts of us, we surely all must go.
 We've talked about ourselves enough; let's see what the Freshmen show.

The Freshman class of the Olean High School has considerable strength if members count for anything. This year the class has a registration of nearly five hundred members. While the limited quarters makes it impossible for us to do things as a group, we are most ably represented in all school activities.

With the hope of a new High School in the near future, we are most anxious to carry on the ideals so well established by previous classes and bring them to a still higher level than that which we have enjoyed in the past.

Alma Mater

(Words by Brady Shoff, 1931)

Oh, Alma Mater, fair and true,
Thy honor we acclaim;
We rally round the Red and Gold
To laud thy noble name.
In thee we students shall renew
Our faith of days gone by,
Across the years we'll live anew
Thy spirit, Olean High.

Dear Olean, thy loving ways
And charms will ever be,
Those memories of golden days,
Those friends and hearts so free.
To thee we pledge thy honor due,
And, parting, sound thy cheers.
Our thoughts of you, so staunch, so true,
Will live thru all the years.

Student Council

September 25th—The first meeting of the Student Council was held, today, when Mr. Sackett called together the newly elected members for organization. The following officers were elected:

President	Stewart Williams
Vice President	Helen Perkins
Secretary	Margaret Ried
Treasurer	John Petrucelli

October 4th—The Council was called together to plan a program for selection of a cheer-leading squad.

October 19th—A cut in the cheer-leading squad was made. The number was reduced to eight, and Alfred La Bella was elected Chief Cheer-Leader. Committees were appointed to arrange for a parade and bonfire on the evening preceding Jamestown game.

October 20th—A committee was appointed to plan for a dance and reception to the Jamestown team on the evening after the Jamestown football game. Election of members for Student Police was held. Twelve members of squad were elected and John Petrucelli was elected Chief of Police.

December 7th—The Council endorsed the award of credits toward the twenty-point letter to officers of the Domestic Science Club. It was voted further to cut the Cheer-Leading Squad to six members—i. e. Alfred LaBella, Mary Fitzpatrick, Helen Perkins, Ruth Perkins, Rita Pierce, and Ensworth Payne.

January 29th—This day we welcomed the new freshmen to our midst,—and acted as guides to them as they became acquainted with their new building.

As a final official act of the year, we will check up the honors and activities of candidates for the twenty-point letter. Awards of letters and of certificates will be made to those whose record of achievement entitles them to the distinction.

Wayside, a society for Junior and Senior girls, is a source of enjoyment for many.

In February a party was held in the gymnasium with a large attendance. Cards, dancing and the Virginia Reel furnished the entertainment. Regular meetings are held bi-monthly.

In May the most prominent of social events in the school year—the Wayside spring party was held. This was very attractive and everyone had a good time.

Wayside officers for this year are:

The Girls' Hi-Y started their second year in September and there have been two formal initiations, making twenty members in the club.

The latter part of the year was divided into month projects as follows:

February—Dramatics—Directed by Miss Herzog.
 March—Health—Lecture by Miss Grout.
 April—Travel.
 May—Education.
 June—Scouting.

The basketball team was active this year and the following games were played:

Three games were played with Portville and the Hi-Y won two games. Two games were played with Bradford and the Hi-Y were defeated both times. The Hi-Y played three games with the Marionettes winning all of them. They ended the season by playing the Boys' Hi-Y and defeated them by several points.

The Hi-Y also participated in the "Y" Circus, which was held in April.

The Girls' and Boys' Hi-Y held a successful party at the "Y" April 20, and about one hundred and twenty-five young people attended.

The girls are expecting to go camping this summer.

Risking that, along with membership in the Boys' Hi-Y Club, they might also acquire the dub of "Daffodils," twenty of our students banded together this year to form an entirely rejuvenated Hi-Y Club. Meetings held at the Y. M. C. A. each Tuesday evening proved to be both instructive and entertaining, and progress was made in "creating, maintaining, and extending, throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character."

The triangular club emblem, embroidered in the colors representing purity and red-blooded development, found itself sewed on the new blue and gold sweaters purchased by a majority of the members.

For the first time in years the club was governed by a written constitution. Two parties at the home of Sponsor M. Wesley Smith were very entertaining, as was the annual Hi-Y banquet and dancing party held May 22.

A meeting with Salamanca offered opportunity for members of the two clubs to become better acquainted, as did the softball games played against out-of-town Hi-Y teams.

A very brief basketball season was enjoyed, the main (and only) game being played against and chivalrously lost to the Hi-Y Girls at a private party held at the "Y" on April 20.

Several members represented the club at conferences held at Fredonia and Franklinville.

OBJECTIVE—To create and maintain closer relationship between home and school, that the students may gain the highest advantages in education.

MEMBERSHIP—Three hundred seventy-five.

ACTIVITIES—Miss Mary Fitzgerald, a retired faculty member and a charter member of the organization, has been presented with a life membership in the State P. T. A. The Association has also cooperated with the City P. T. A. Council in presenting Mrs. Edward J. Geise, President of the Council and a Past President of the High School Unit, with a life membership in the State P. T. A.

Afternoon dances, encouraging friendliness among the students have been held frequently.

The Association has aided in various ways the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen classes, Lettermen's Club, Boys' Hi-Y, and Girls' Hi-Y Clubs. It has sponsored demonstrations by the Physical Education and the Home Economics Department.

During the year, programs have been presented emphasizing friendliness and the responsibility of schools. Besides excellent presentations by students and members, the Association has had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Fred A. Benz of Salamanca and a splendid program by the Bradford P. T. A. The local group presented an interesting program for the Bradford organization in return.

The Senior Class was entertained by the association at a party given Commencement Week.

The Sketch Club

The Sketch Club, a new organization started this semester, is another beneficial step toward the development of Art in the Olean High School.

This club is under the direction of Miss Harris, instructor of Art, and due to the progress it is making, promises to be more than an experiment.

The club is organized for anyone who is interested in Art and sketching. The club holds its meetings Tuesday afternoons at two-twenty in the drawing room and continues for one hour. The general idea carried out is work in water color, charcoal, pencil drawings, and still life sketches.

More and more interest is being taken toward Art, and the hope is expressed that it may continue.

The following officers were elected by the members of the club:

President	Charles Shoemaker
Secretary	Winona Haseloff
Treasurer	Winona Haseloff

The Athletic Council, being one of the oldest and most responsible organizations of the school, has an official body which consists of the president of the Athletic Association, vice president, secretary, and treasurer, who is a member of the teaching staff, three other faculty advisors, the managers of football, basketball, and track, and the president of the Girls' Sports Council. Its duty is to take care of all business connected with athletics.

During the year, the Council awards letters, audits bills, approves the coach's recommendations for the purchase of equipment, and transacts other routine business. The Council meetings are held at the close of school on alternating Tuesdays.

The accomplishments for this year include the carrying on of an effective administration of the athletic affairs of the school; the management of the county play-offs in basketball in our own court; the promoting and financing of the new football and track practice fields back of the gym at an expense already incurred of four hundred and seventy-eight dollars and fifty cents, and the making of plans for a further extension of this project.

Football

Enjoying the most successful and highly productive season since 1926, the Crimson Wave, under the tutelage of Coaches Frey and Utecht, garnered five wins.

The initial fracas found Olean pounding out a 7-0 victory over Salamanca.

Allegany invaded the Crimson lair next, only to have their ears pinned back under a smarting 65-0 total, one of the worst defeats they ever suffered, and the most the Hill-toppers ever collected in a single encounter. The following week a surprisingly strong Eldred team was handed a 32-0 setback. Cowley, their center, made the all-opponent team.

Against Dunkirk, the best game of the year was played. On the opening kick off, Piechota galloped 80 odd yards for a touchdown, and Williams dropkicked the extra point. A bad break gave Dunkirk a touchdown and the point was made, causing the game to end in a thrilling 7-7 tie.

The next week, before 2500 inspired fans, Ray Questa led the Yeomen to a 7-0 victory over Jamestown, traditional rivals. This was the first time the trick was turned since 1926.

The next encounter found Williams grabbing two passes for touchdowns, passed by Piechota and Ray Questa, scoring on a 30 yard jaunt to send Depew home tagged with a 19-0 loss.

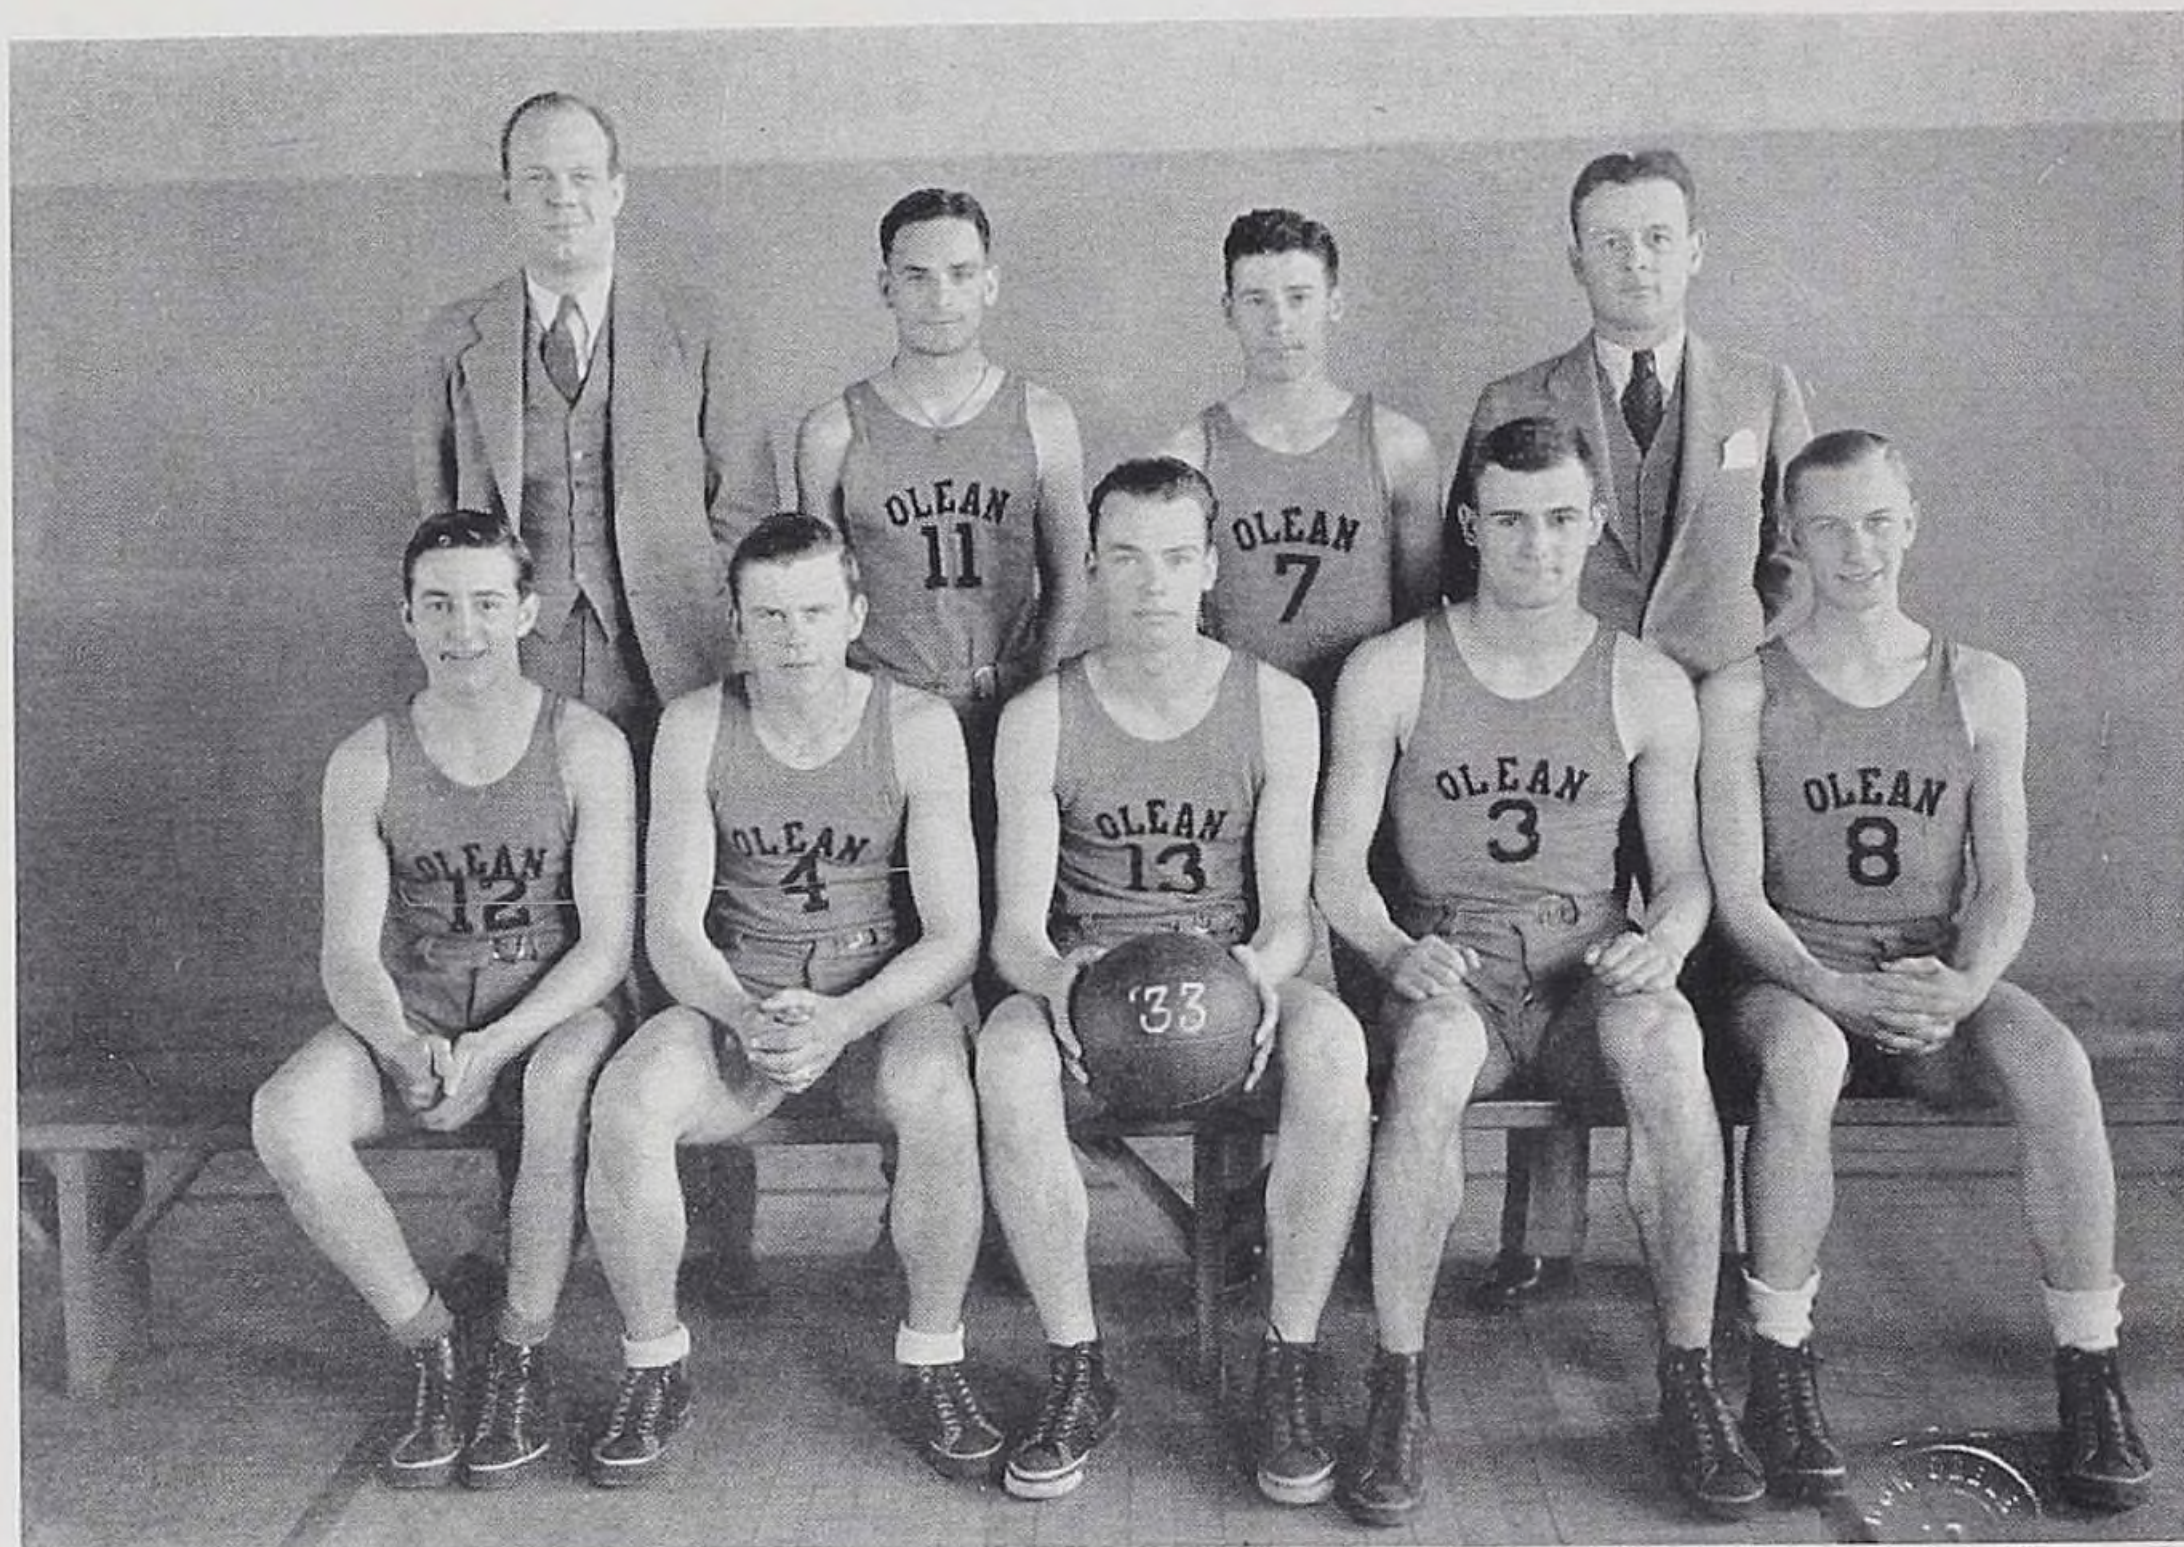

On Armistice Day, minus the services of Williams, Questa, Layton, Hollod, and Miller, Bradford beat us 32-0 to end our undefeated string.

Graduation takes nearly the whole team.

Varsity letters were awarded the following: Captain S. Williams, M. Barbaro, M. Borst, Butchello, Chrzan, Chevassu, Carter, Clancy, DeRose, McGraw, McFadden, Miller, Palumbo, Padlo, Raymond, T. Rogers, Stavish, Coleman, Questa, Boyd, Ford, Houte, Linnan, Layton, Piechota, and Manager Nick Rogers.

Total	254	229

We find the Crimson Cagers gaining an even split in regular games won and lost during the '33-'34 campaign.

Olean started out like champions, defeating Portville by a plentiful score. The next week found a strong Franklinville team already with five victories under their belts taking the measure of the Hilltoppers. Delevan fell prey to the local sharpshooters, but Bradford and Allegany both eked out hard fought wins on successive nights.

Again the Crimson beat Portville by a sizeable score, but a big and powerful Erie Strong-Vincent five came to town the next week to administer our worst defeat. In another sparkling contest Franklinville's early victory was avenged Delevan again fell after throwing a scare into the Hilltoppers.

At Jamestown, Olean played the best ball of the year only to lose to the "Swedes" in the ebbing minutes. A heartbreaker was lost to Bradford after Olean led all the way up to the final seconds. In the last league contest ample revenge was gained over the Allegany early season victory.

Coaches Frey and Utecht, faced with the task of molding a team with but three regular performers as a nucleus, did very well in the face of the fact that the opposition was of a tougher caliber than usual. Practically all the games chalked up on the wrong side of the ledger were heartbreakers, and if the Goddess of Chance had nodded Crimson-ward at opportune moments many close results would have been reversed.

Williams, Rogers and Johnson were selected on the "All East" teams that swept to two victories over the "All West." Our boys gave wonderful accounts of themselves in the games, and Rogers notched the foul shooting contest to add to the Crimson laurels. "Stewy" Williams, "Tony" Rogers and "Ike" Johnson have donned the Crimson abbreviated suits for the last time.

The following received varsity insignias with total points scored during the season.

Captain Rogers (31), Ike Johnson (43), Stewy Williams (77), Pete Houde (43), Ed Stavish (40), LaBella (8), Heinz (9), Ek (7), and Manager John Petrucelli.

Track

At this writing no track meets have been held, and as the candidates have been out only slightly more than a week this is more or less on the order of a forecast.

The scheduled meets: May 4, Alfred Interscholastics, at Alfred; Inter Class Meet at Olean; Tri-City Meet at Bradford; Dual Meet at Olean; County Meet at Olean; Dual Meet at Bradford; Sectionals at Dunkirk.

Listed among the Crimson veterans is Tony "Track Star" Palumbo, holder of the County 220 yard record. Built along the lines of a professional wrestler as Tony is, one hardly expects the amazing speed that he produces. If no more "shot puts" fall on his feet, he should go through to set a new sectional 220 record.

Pete "Vinegar" Prince and "Fran" Morrica, both veteran dash men, are expected to hold up their end against all competition. Both placed in a majority of last year's meets aside from being regular members of the sectional winning relay team. Palumbo and Barbaro rounded out the quartet. Whether Barbaro will run this year is problematical.

Earl Ek and Carl Geise should ring up many Crimson points in the 220 low hurdle event. Ek was returned winner of last year's County event and should repeat and also finish high up in the Sectionals. Both Ek and Geise are capable pole vaulters.

"Stewy" Williams, veteran quarter miler, will be lost via the four year ruling. Ezra Sprague and the bespectacled Lyman Whipple are being groomed to fill his shoes. In the 880 yard run we find Jim Brooks, Tarantine and Milne fighting hard for the first berth. These three boys should gain a fair share of points.

Dick and Lyman Whipple, Bill Brooks, Geise and a host of new Freshman material should do well in the Hilltoppers weakest point—the field events. "Johny" Alvin, former track star, is assisting the Crimson Coaches with the Track squad.

All in all, the brightest looking prospect for the Crimson is the relay team. Practically intact from last year, they should again pace the field in the sectionals. Palumbo is undoubtedly the outstanding performer on the Crimson roster. Ensworth Payn will manage the Spikemen this year.

Lettermen's Club

One of the older and more active organizations of the student body is the Lettermen's Club.

The main objective of this club is to promote and maintain friendship among the participating athletes and to emphasize the honor and significance of being awarded a school insignia.

Acquiring membership to this organization is a slight deviation from other organizations in that application for membership is confined to those who have been awarded a varsity or general activities insignia—including basketball, football, track, and what is commonly referred to as the "twenty-point letter."

The distinction of being awarded an insignia is heralded supremely, especially among the lower classmen who are anxious to gain the acquaintance of the upper class lettermen.

This organization came into being with the same procedure as many other clubs. The athletes representing the school felt that being a recipient of an award merited more than the mere privilege of wearing an emblem, so they took the necessary steps to organize, and ultimately they advanced to their present recognition.

The membership of this organization fluctuates annually due to the difference in the number of outgoing and incoming lettermen.

The lettermen are thankful to the O. H. S. Parent-Teachers Association for their cooperation and contribution to the success of the Lettermen's Sweater Project which was their outstanding event of the year.

Girls' Sport Council

The girls' sport council organized last year by Mrs. Morris has greatly developed under the guidance of Miss Thorne.

The objects of this organization are as follows:

1. To promote student leadership.
2. To organize girls' athletics.
3. To develop the interest of more girls in athletics.
4. To have a student, interested in girls' athletics, to represent the girls on the Athletic Council.
5. To have all students participating in athletics as members of the Athletic Association.

The members of the council this year are:

Ruth Perkins	President
Marjorie Rounds	Vice President
Nona Haseloff	Secretary

and the captains and managers of teams during their respective playing time.

BASEBALL

At the time this book goes to press, baseball is just starting with a bright promise of a very interesting season.

The teams have not as yet been selected but many girls have turned out for this sport with much enthusiasm and the selections will be worthy.

CONGRESS • 1934

Volleyball

The Senior team won its second victory this year in securing the Girls' Volley Ball League championship.

The games were all very exciting and played with zest, but the last two games in the finals were the most interesting and closest. In the first, the Senior team turned out a smashing victory of 37-13 points over the Junior team. This was followed by a 21-20 score over the Sophomores in the final bout which secured the championship for the Seniors.

The girls' gym classes organized a Volleyball league in which selected teams were gradually eliminated until only one team remained to claim the championship. After many vigorous struggles, the Tiger team of the second period gym class won the honor of the championship in this contest.

The Seniors playing on the regular league team are:

Marjorie Ackley	Jane Ackley	Theresa Welch	Josephine Ball
June Eldridge	Frances Bridge	Edna McBride	Ruth Perkins

TRACK

Track season has not as yet rolled around, but the girls are looking forward to a very pleasing season to conclude this eventful year.

Girls' Basketball

The Junior basketball team proved its superiority this year by wresting the championship from the other three classes after a hard struggle.

In the first games, the Juniors defeated the Seniors by a score of 13-2, and the Sophomores gained a 11-9 victory over the Freshmen. The Juniors then played the Sophomores with the former scoring 30 points to the Sophomores 2. The result of the Senior-Freshmen clash was a defeat of 14-3 for the Freshmen. This eliminated the Freshmen from the league and left the Seniors to play the Juniors again.

The Juniors defeated the Seniors by a score of 16-4 in the most exciting and hard fought game in the play-offs and earned for them the championship.

The Juniors had plenty of competition from all teams and it was a well earned victory.

The members of the winning team were the guests of the girls' basketball league at the banquet at the Cogswell, at the conclusion of the season.

The girls on the Junior team are:

Harriett Rockwell
Jane Crowley
Helen Perkins
Jean Perkins
Dorothy Rounds

Marjorie Rounds
Ruth Lang
Eleanore Eisert
Dorothy Bergstrom
Rita Stomierosky

Soccer

Under the direction of Miss Thorne, soccer proved to be the most popular of the girls' sports this season with an attendance of sixty girls.

The Senior team was victorious in many close contests.

The final play-offs were very exciting for there was only one point of difference in almost every score and ties had to be played out several times. In the first two games the Seniors were defeated by the Juniors and the Sophomores by the Freshmen by one goal. The Juniors then defeated the Freshmen 1-0 while the Sophomores tied the Seniors 1-1. Each team would just have the ball within scoring distance when the ball would be sent hurling down to the opposite goal, where the performance would be repeated. Extra time was required for playing out the Senior-Sophomore tie and the Seniors came out the victor by one point. The Seniors then defeated the Juniors after a hard struggle by a score of 2-1. This being the final game, the Seniors claimed the championship.

The present Seniors won the championship last year and, in spite of an incomplete team in every game this season, came out victorious. A delightful banquet was given in honor of the Seniors at the close of the soccer season.

The members of the Senior team are:

Jane Ackley
Edna McBride
Marjorie Ackley
June Eldridge
Theresa Welch

Rose Abbott
Helen Cords

BEAUTIFUL THINGS

All these are beautiful, and many more:
Hills at twilight, fading from green to purple and blue,
Gaunt trees, standing in sharp relief
against a gray sky,
The night sky,
Stars.
Old people's faces, mellowed and softened by the years,
The solitude of parting day,
The hour when dusk settles down upon the earth.
Rain, pattering on the roof,
The silence of the forest and the sweet smell of the woods.
The wind, whispering through the pines
And ruffling the mirror—like lake into wavelets.
Cheery lights in windows of homes,
Shining through the darkness,
Firelight, dancing in the shadows;
Friends.
The sound of distant chimes in the still air,
The hushed calm of a great church at twilight
With the sun casting long shafts of colored light
Among the pillared shadows.
The purple line of far-away hills,
Trees.
And life, itself is beautiful—
The happiness and sadness of every day,
Hopes for the future and memories of the past,
All these are beautiful.
They weave themselves slowly into a pattern—
A tapestry of dreams.

—Betty Quirin.

THE TREE IN FALL

Oh! how I like in fall
To go roving o'er the garden wall
And out into the country bright,
To watch the leaves while on their flight.

I love to stand beneath a tree,
And watch the leaves go sailing free,
Free from the arms that held them tight,
Throughout the summer, day and night.

I adore the many colors bright,
That float serenely on my sight.
And thank God who created me,
That he took time to create a tree.

—Herbert Crandall.

DESERTED

Along a tumble-down fence, wild roses grow—
Dainty pink roses in a bush thicket of green.
Among the tall weeds and grasses, that fill the yard,
A few old - fashioned flowers still bloom—
Lone symbols of days forgotten.
Up the crude stone chimney, an ivy vine
has crept,
Clinging closely to each rough stone.
Under the blackened shingles of the roof,
A little swallow has her nest.
And where other happy children used to call and laugh,
The tiny birdings peep and chirp.
Sometimes, when the east wind rustles
the leaves of the tall trees,
It seems as if an echo whispers through the old house,
And the sounds of a distant yesterday again resound through the empty rooms,
Bringing back in memory the hours that are gone.

Now it is quiet again.
The echoes have died away, leaving the deserted home
To its own silence—to remember.
The flowers still sway in the garden,
And the wild roses blow in the breeze,
While towering high above, a lone pine keeps its silent vigil.

—Betty Quirin.

BREEZES

A gay breeze dances through the door
Of sombre Junior Study Hall;
It laughs at weary minds of those
Who do not hear its call.

In silent joyous ecstasy
It touches thoughtful heads
It whispers of the gay out doors
To restless Jeans and Teds.

It gathers up a thousand minds,
It takes them on its way,
And leaves them by a wide blue lake
And keeps them there to play.

The minutes march unnoticed o'er
The student who forgot,
It is the witchery of the wind
That brewed this joyous plot.

—James Knox '36.

Poetry

THE NIGHTINGALE

Deep was the silence, unbroken and still,
 As we listened with breathless delight;
 The moonbeams lay soft on the side of the hill,
 And abroad were the shadows of night.
 And hushed was the valley, and hushed was the lake,
 No leaf in the forest was stirred;
 No sound but the croon of the ripples,
 that break
 On the glittering pebbles, were heard.
 But now a low cadence, and now a clear
 trill,
 And now a full gush of rich song,
 Burst forth from the distance and then all was still
 Save the echo that floated along.
 Oh! think what calmness to Heaven
 ascended;
 The nightingale poured its soft plaintive tone
 While its voice, with the sound of the sad waters blended
 Was answered on earth by an echo alone.

—Marcaria Corwin.

SUMMER SHADES

Under the trees
 Let me lie at ease,
 To muse or slumber, wake or dream,
 Lulled by the ripple of the stream;
 By the buzzing of bees, like a trumpet
 tune,
 By the whisper of leaves to the wind of noon,
 That scarcely stirs the upper boughs,
 Or wafts a breath to feverish brows;
 Lulled by these murmurs, many in one,
 A refuge from the sultry sun,
 Beneath the trees I love to lie,
 Heedless how the time goes by,
 Upon the greensward by the river.

Gold and power, though both are good,
 Lose their charm in the fresh greenwood.
 They cannot vie with ease and rest,
 And the cool wind on the water's breast,
 And the floating shadows that go and come;
 And the sweet, monotonous, drowsy hum
 That nature's voices all express,
 To woo us to forgetfulness.

—Marcaria Corwin.

MAN'S CASTLE

A man's house is his castle
 Be he king, or serf, or vassal;
 Here he lives in peace and war
 Refuged in behind his door.
 Here he rules with firmest hand
 Even if he has no land—
 A man's house is his castle.

A man's house is his castle,
 Be he slave or Turk with tassel—
 Here all his contentment is Everything he sees is his.
 Here he sings and says his prayers,
 Here alone he puts on airs,
 A man's house is his castle.

A man's house is his castle,
 Be he king, or serf or vassal—
 His alone to mar or keep;
 His abode where he can sleep,
 Softly slumber; loudly snore,
 Refuged in behind his door.
 A man's house is his castle.

—Louise Lyons.

TIRED FINGERS

Tired fingers so worn, so white,
 Sewing and mending from morn 'till night

Tired hands and eyes that blink
 Dropping head too tired to think.

Tired arms that once did press
 A curly head to a mother's breast
 Tired voice so soft so dear saying,
 "Sleep well, darling, mother's near."

Tired fingers so worn, so true
 Sewing and mending the whole day through
 From break of dawn 'till setting sun,
 A mother's work is never done.

—William Arthur Malon.

MY FRIEND

Here's to a pal, a friend of mine
 One who's trustworthy and true,
 Who likes me for what I am
 And not for the things I do.

Fair weather friends are plenty
 We see them all about;
 But give to me this pal of mine
 When I am down and out.

—A Junior

The Library 1933-34

The extreme effort made by various departments to cut requisitions resulted in the accession of only 157 books and 31 magazines. The magazines were distributed among the following rooms: Commercial 1, Home Economics Office 9, Industrial 4, Junior Study 1, Library 9, Music 1, Senior Study 3 and Sewing 3. No requisition for books was submitted by the Home Economics Department. The books ordered were distributed among the following classes and departments: 1 General reference—"Who's Who in America;" 7 Social science; 2 Science; 1 School nursing; 1 Essay for English; 5 Roman antiquities for Latin; 3 Travel and Geography; 12 Biography including 7 for Modern and two for Ancient History, one for Latin, one for Commercial and one for English, 66 History including 19 for Ancient, five for Medieval, three for Medieval and Modern, 24 for Modern and 15 for United States; 59 Fiction including four for Latin and 20 for History supplementary reading.

The history and commercial geography classes read regularly in the library and instruction in the use of books and libraries was given by the librarian one hour to each English I B and approximately three to each English III and IV A class. Shop work books were put on over night reserve.

During Book Week an original poster made by Jack Lee in the Art Department and original book jackets made as a reading report project by Miss Bear's English classes were displayed in the library as well as pictures from Miss Schleich's collection of the Bodleian Library and manuscripts there.

By the shifting of cases, the south door of the library was opened as an exit to relieve the congestion of pupils drawing books at dismissal. For greater convenience biography and travel books were shelved near the history collection and Latin books near the south door.

In memory of Richard H. Bair three books of an inspirational character, "Log Cabin Lady," "Larry" and "Forty Years for Labrador," were presented by the Misses Jean Betzner, Marie F. Merrill and Aileen W. Stowell.

Other gifts were as follows: Stalling's "First World War" by Miss Everleth; back numbers of "Asia" by Miss Gould; "Automotive Repair" in two volumes by Mr. Keagle; the Daily Olean Times-Herald and Sunday New York Times by Miss Schleich.

Miss Schleich wishes to express thanks and appreciation to Miss Gould for assistance on the pamphlet file and to Miss Mitchell and the staff members selected by her. The first term staff was comprised of Frances Gasdick, Mareta Ruggles and Esther Stier; the second term, of Rose Gasdick, Virginia Gaylord, Ina Hall, Marjorie Reddy, Dorothy Scott, Helen Shaw and Eileen Varney. Thanks are also due Ray Sullivan and John Bell for acting as guards.

Desire for Higher Education Is a Laudable Ambition

And every high school graduate is practically certain to be offered the training he desires through a "short cut" method.

Some of these methods are good but hundreds of thousands of dollars in time and money are annually lost by eager students through educational fakers.

Many Olean students have secured protection from this type of racketeers by introducing their representatives to the Chamber of Commerce by telephone before "SIGNING UP."

We don't attempt to pass upon the qualifications of legitimate schools but we can protect you from the "educational" racketeer—and his number is legion.

For Over 30 Years Olean's Leading Store for Young Men

FRONT!

Your biggest asset today is Front:—looking like success, no matter what your job is, will help you succeed. Our young men's clothes will help you keep up appearances at a modest outlay.

DAVIS
CLOTHING COMPANY

A SEVENTY-FIVE YEAR APPRENTICESHIP

Many printers have equipment that will equal ours—but few have the background of seventy-five year's experience.

That is why we are gaining new customers every month; that is why we are able to deliver work that is never slighted, always up to a high standard. And back of every job delivered is a friendly, helpful service that you will like and appreciate. May we have an opportunity of talking with you about your next printing job?
