ALMA MATER

Oh, Alma Mater, fair and true,
Thy honor we acclaim;
We rally round the Red and Gold

To laud thy noble name.
In thee we students shall renew
Our faith of days gone by,
Across the years we'll live anew
Thy spirit, Olean High.

Dear Olean, Thy loving ways
And charms will ever be,
Those memories of golden days,
Those friends and hearts so free.
To thee we pledge thy honor due,
And parting, sound thy cheers
Our thoughts of you, so staunch, so true,
Will live through all the years.

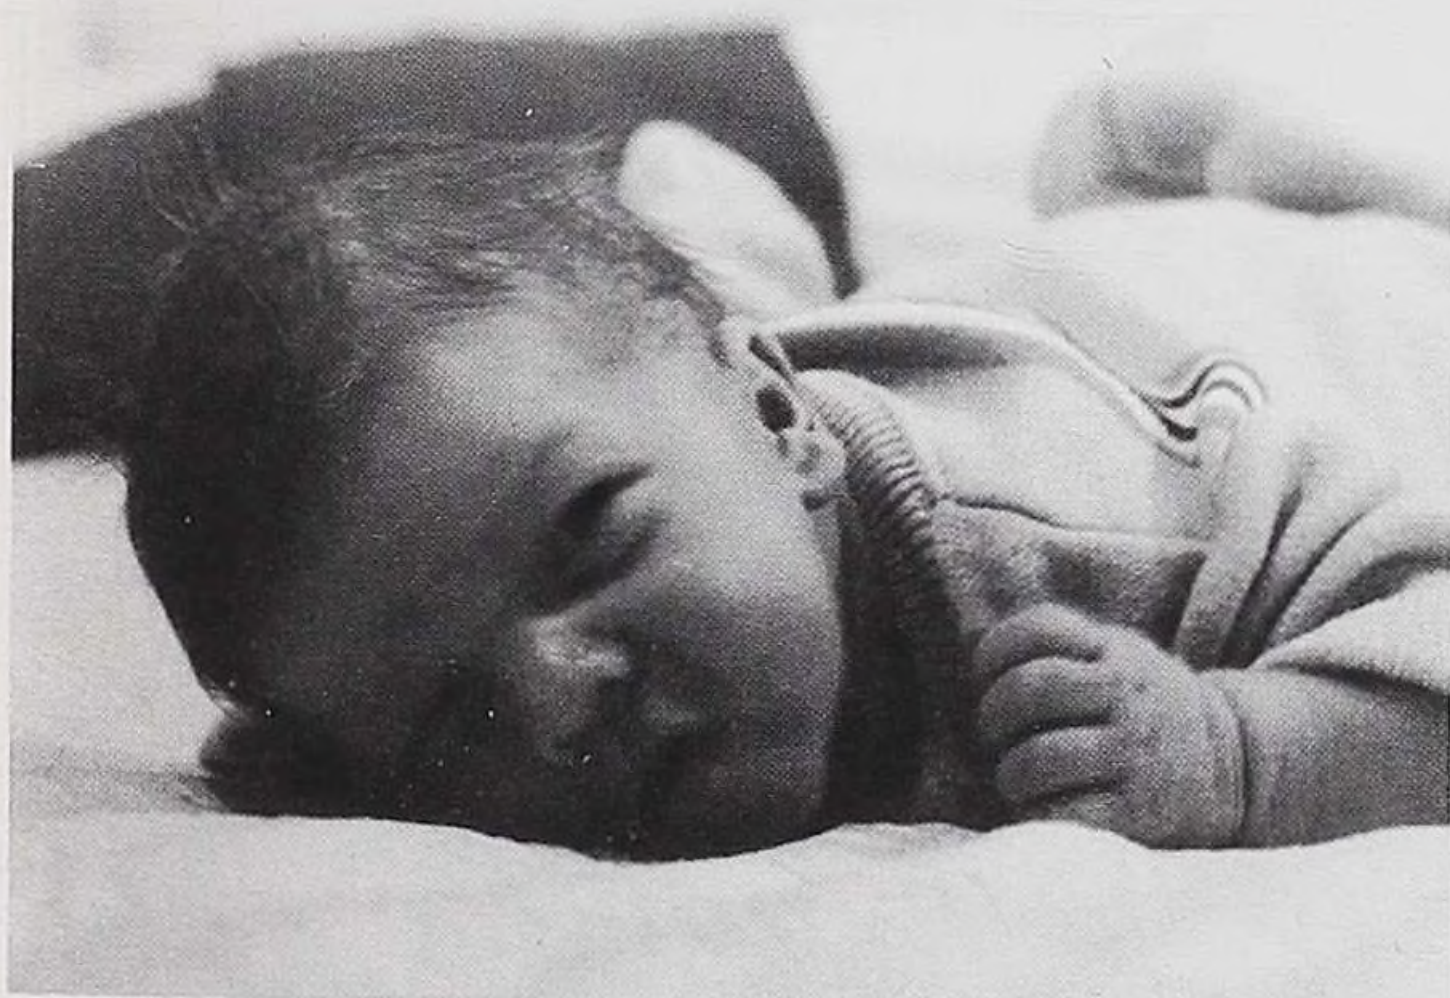

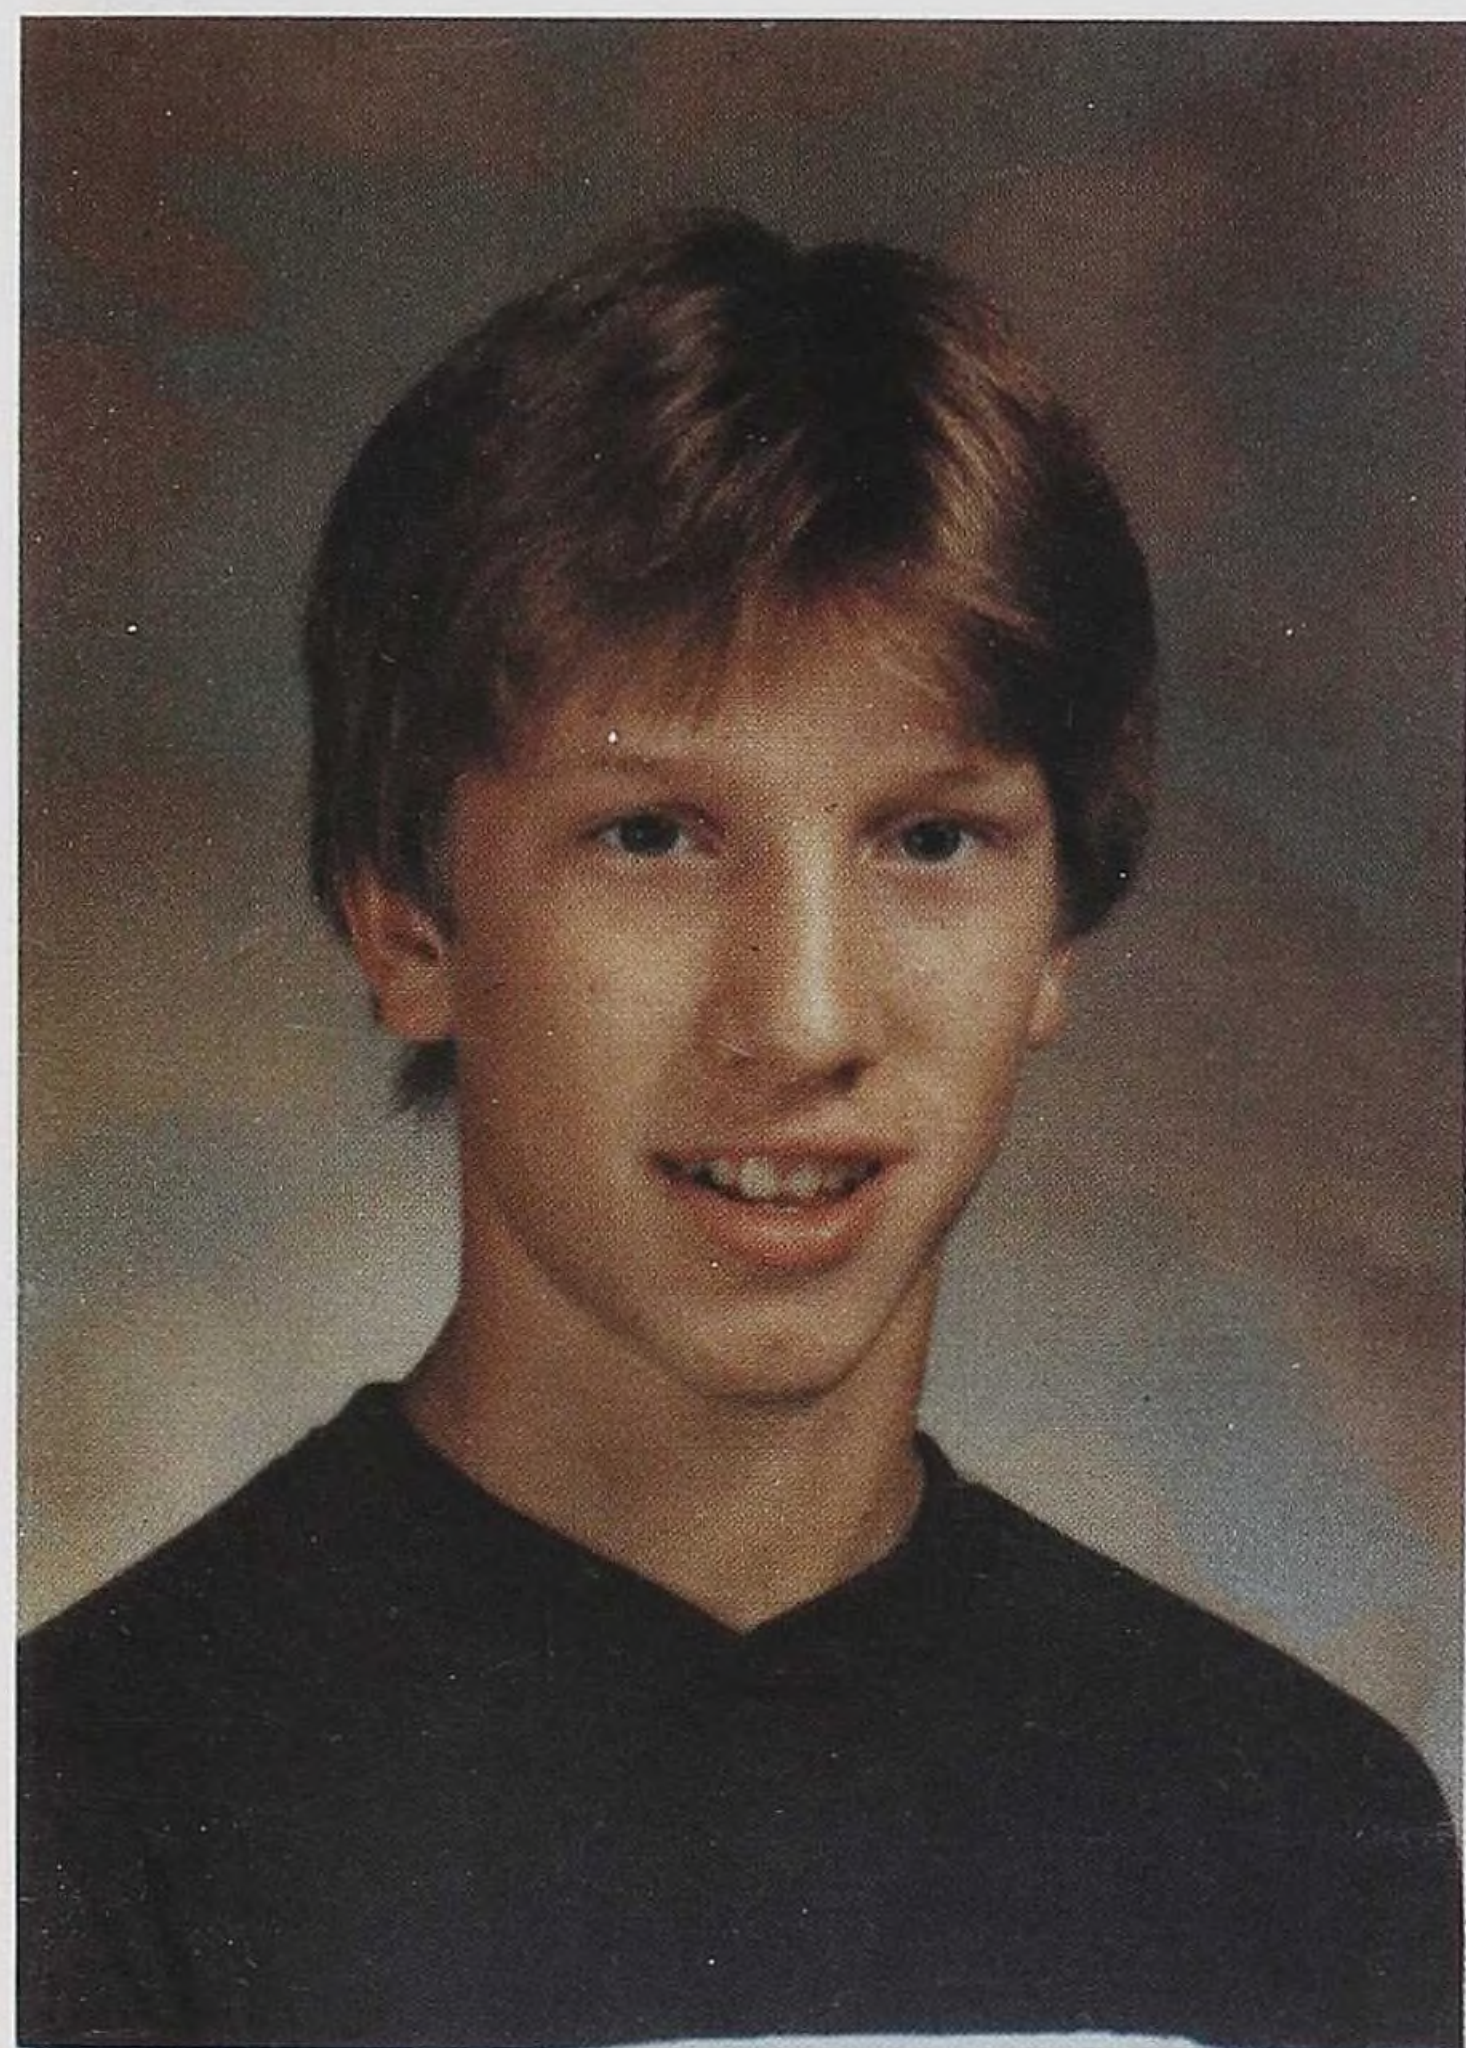

A painting of a forest in autumn. A large, dark tree trunk is in the foreground on the left. A path leads from the bottom center into the distance, flanked by trees with vibrant orange and yellow foliage. The background is a soft, hazy blue-grey.

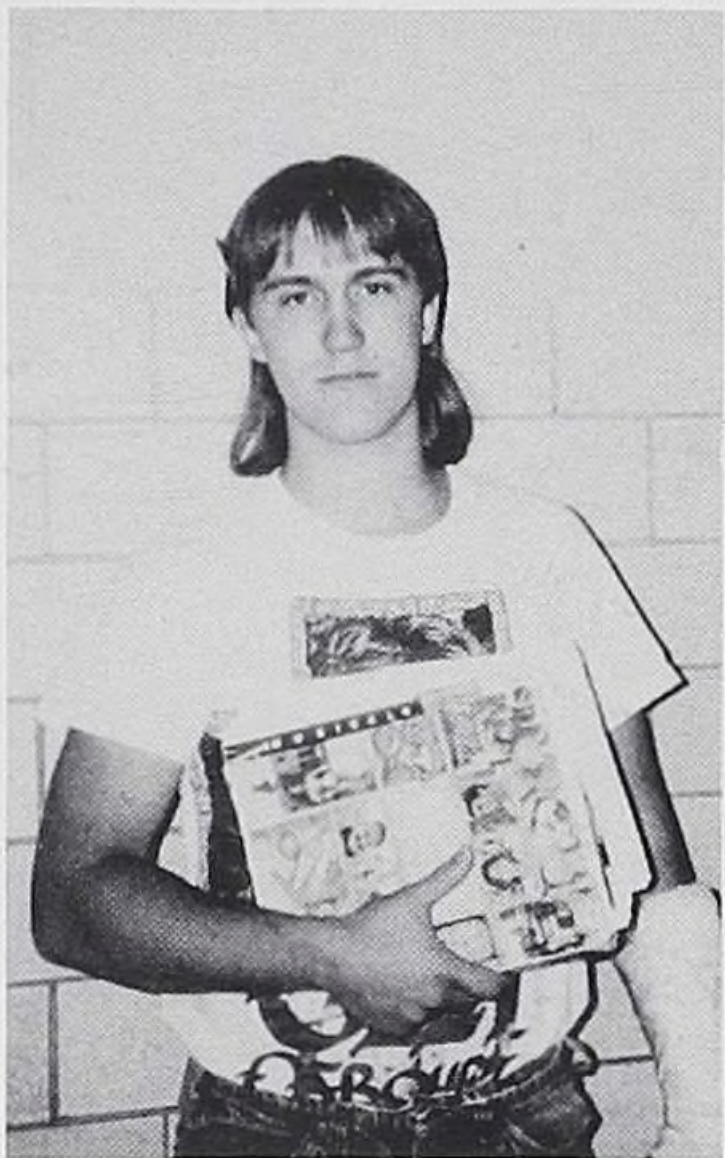

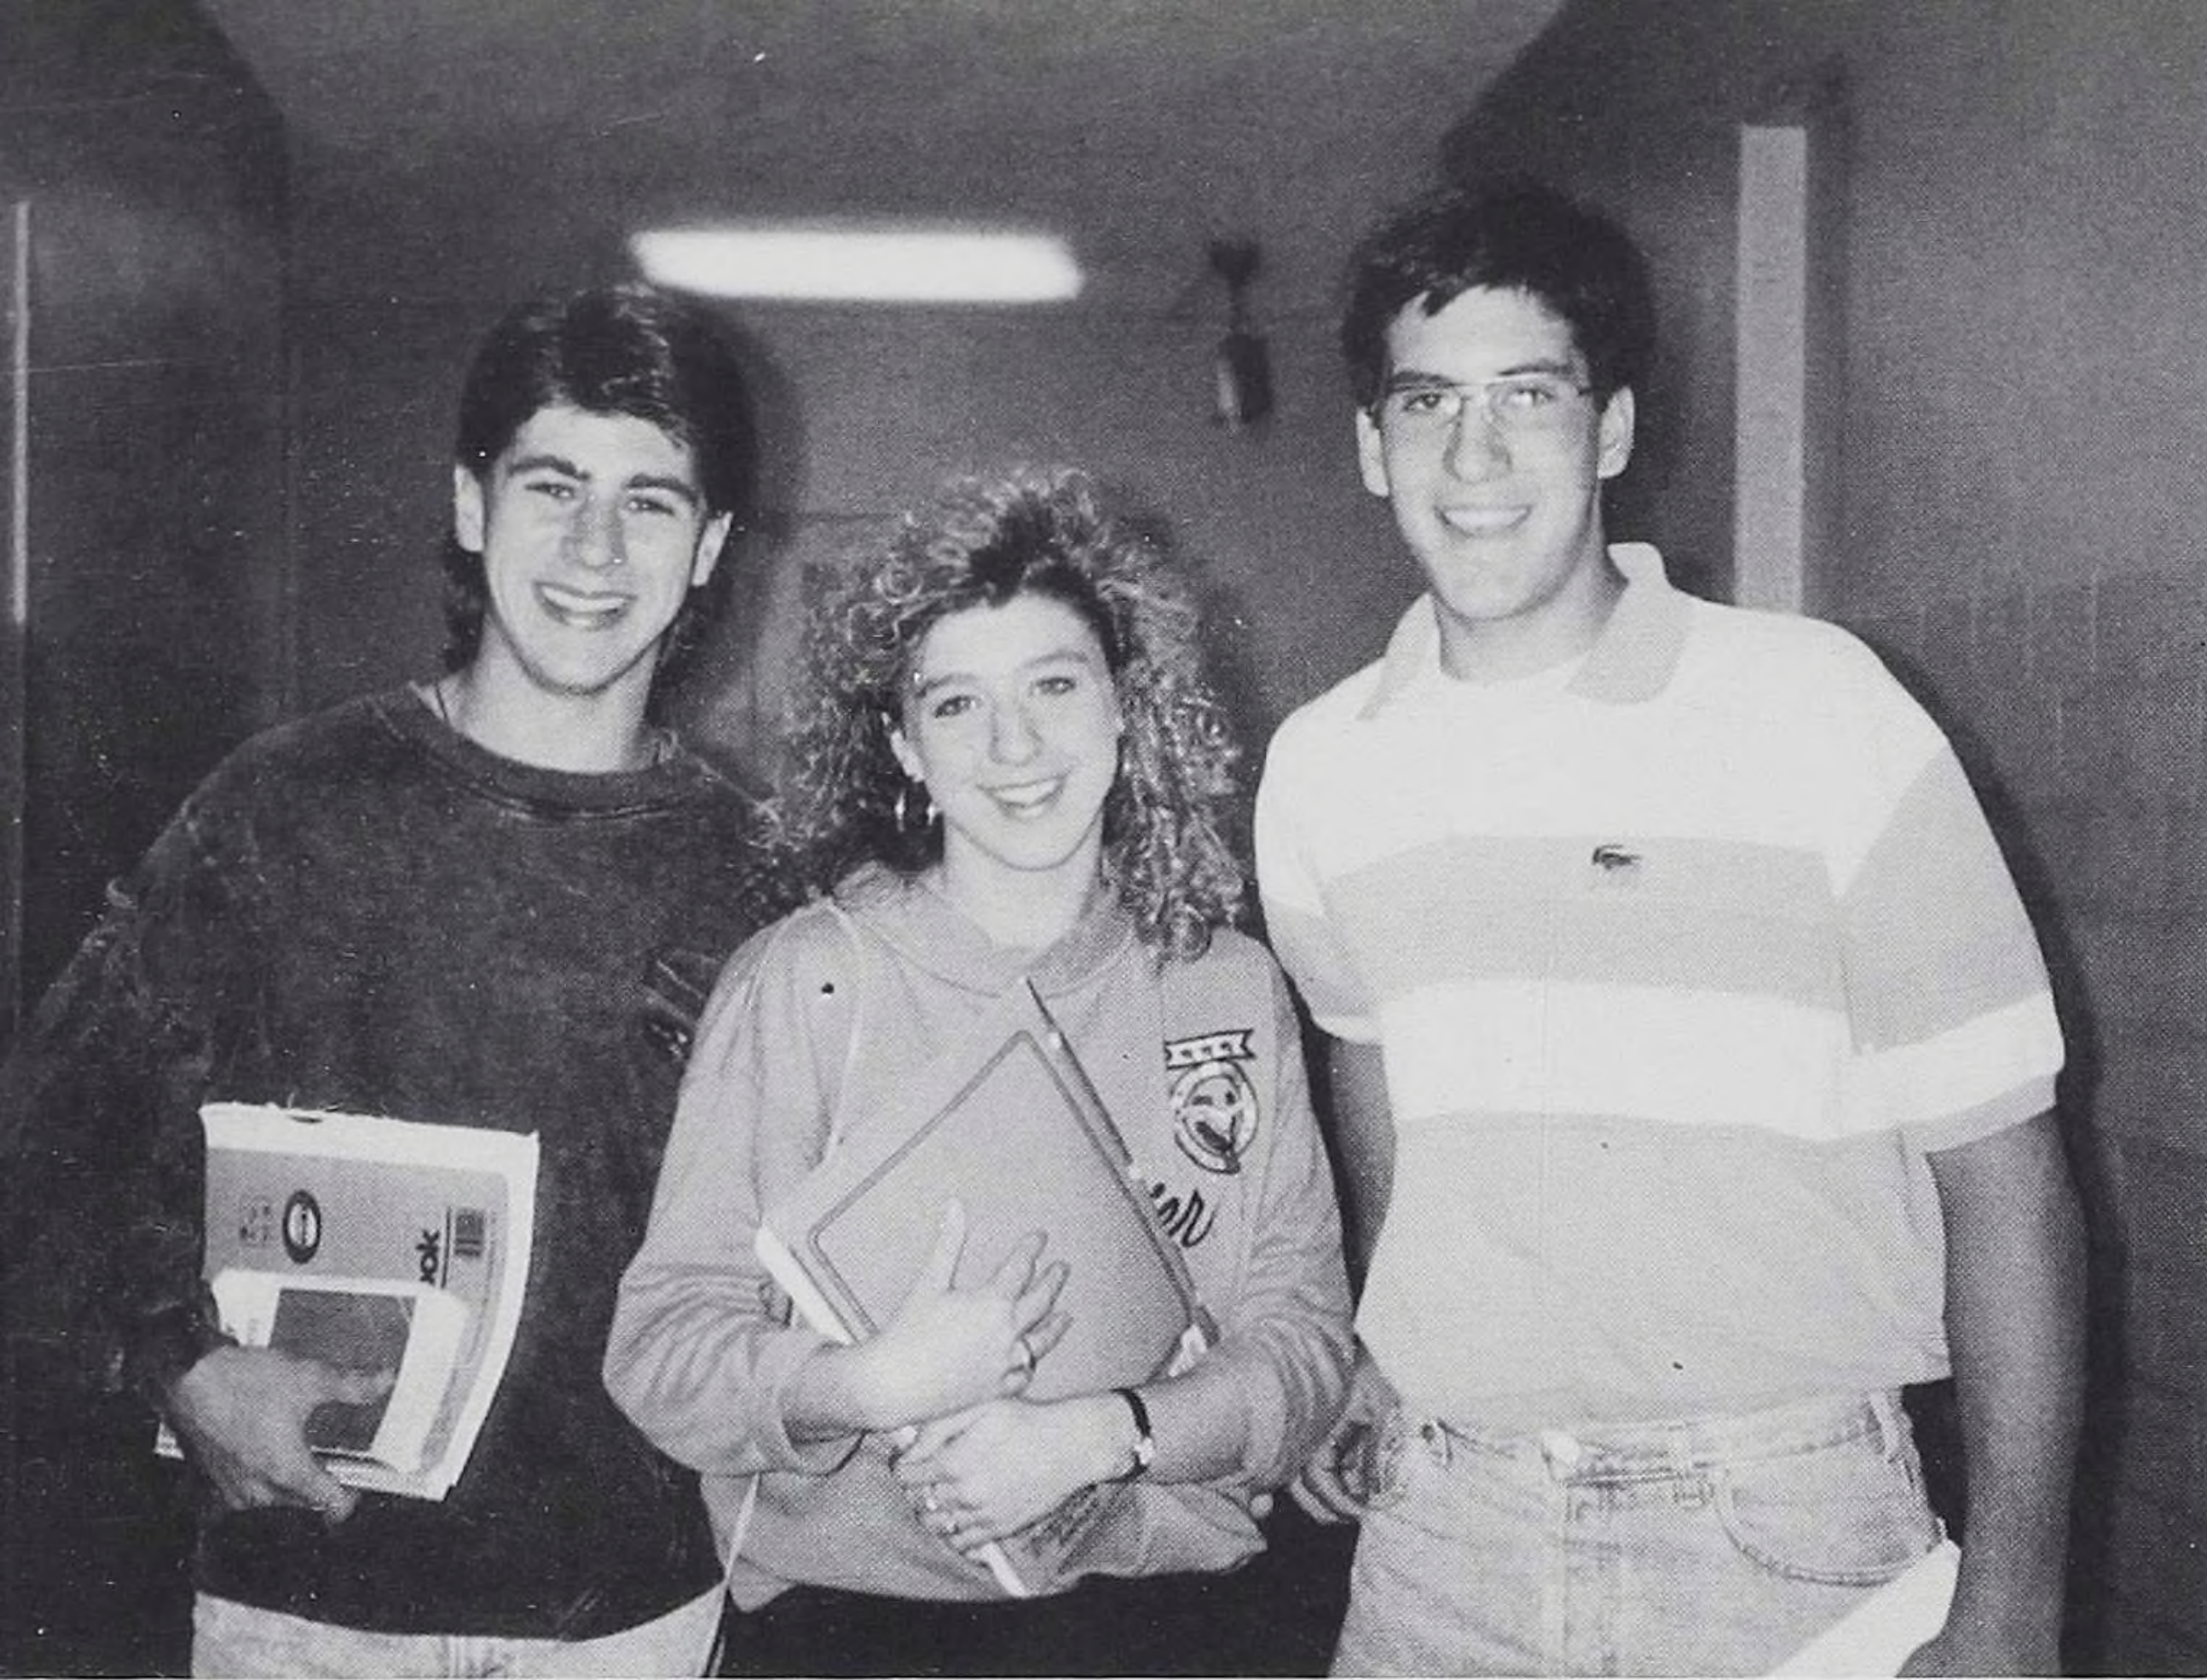

A part of us has been stolen away,
A part that can never be replaced — or forgotten.

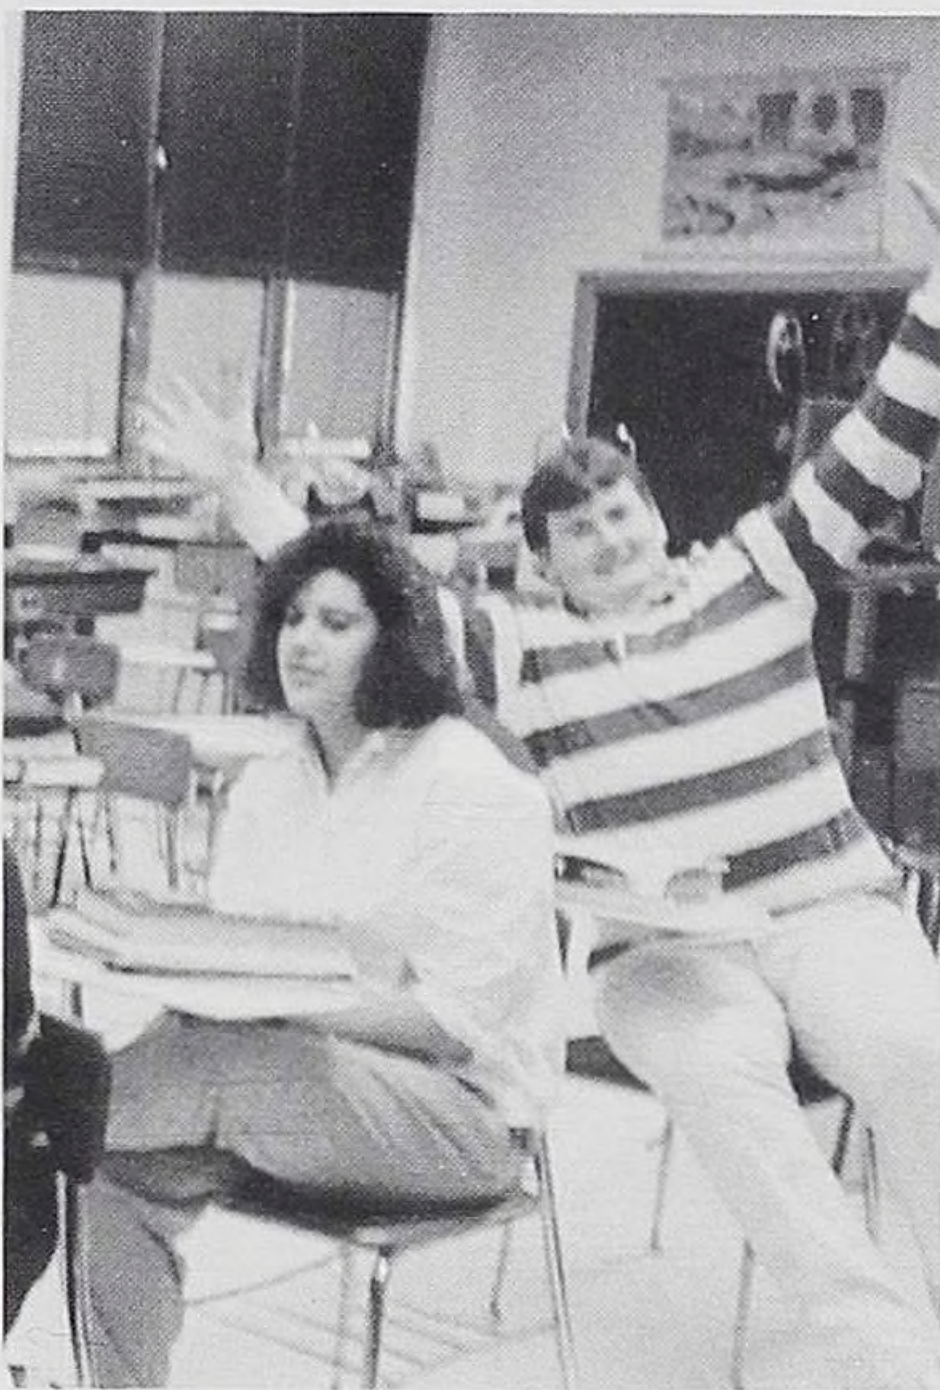

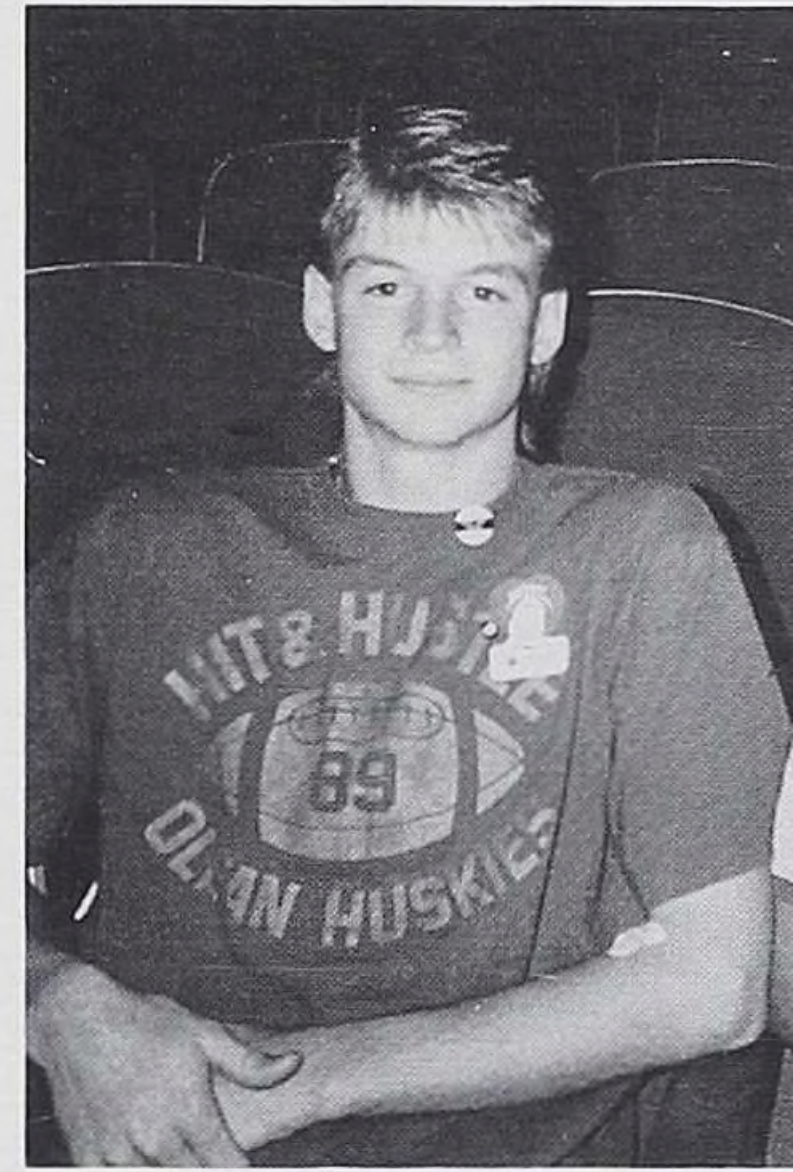

Although Ryan and we can never be together,
we will never be apart.

For though time forgets,
Love remembers.

★ SON , BROTHER , FRIEND ★
RYAN
IN MEMORY OF RYAN HUGHES!

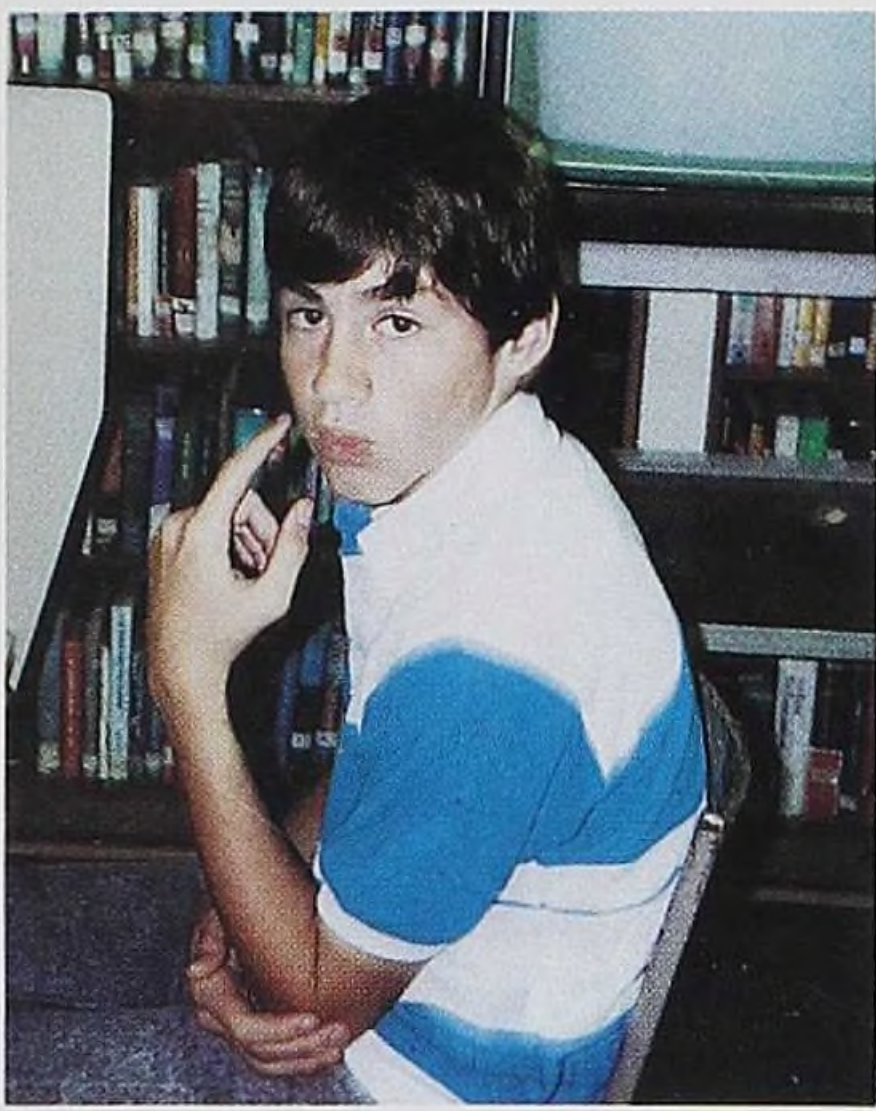

Something contagious has hit Olean High School. It's not a disease but school spirit. In an attempt to promote school spirit, the new Athletic Director, Mr. Mike Taylor, designated Fridays as Red & Gold Day.

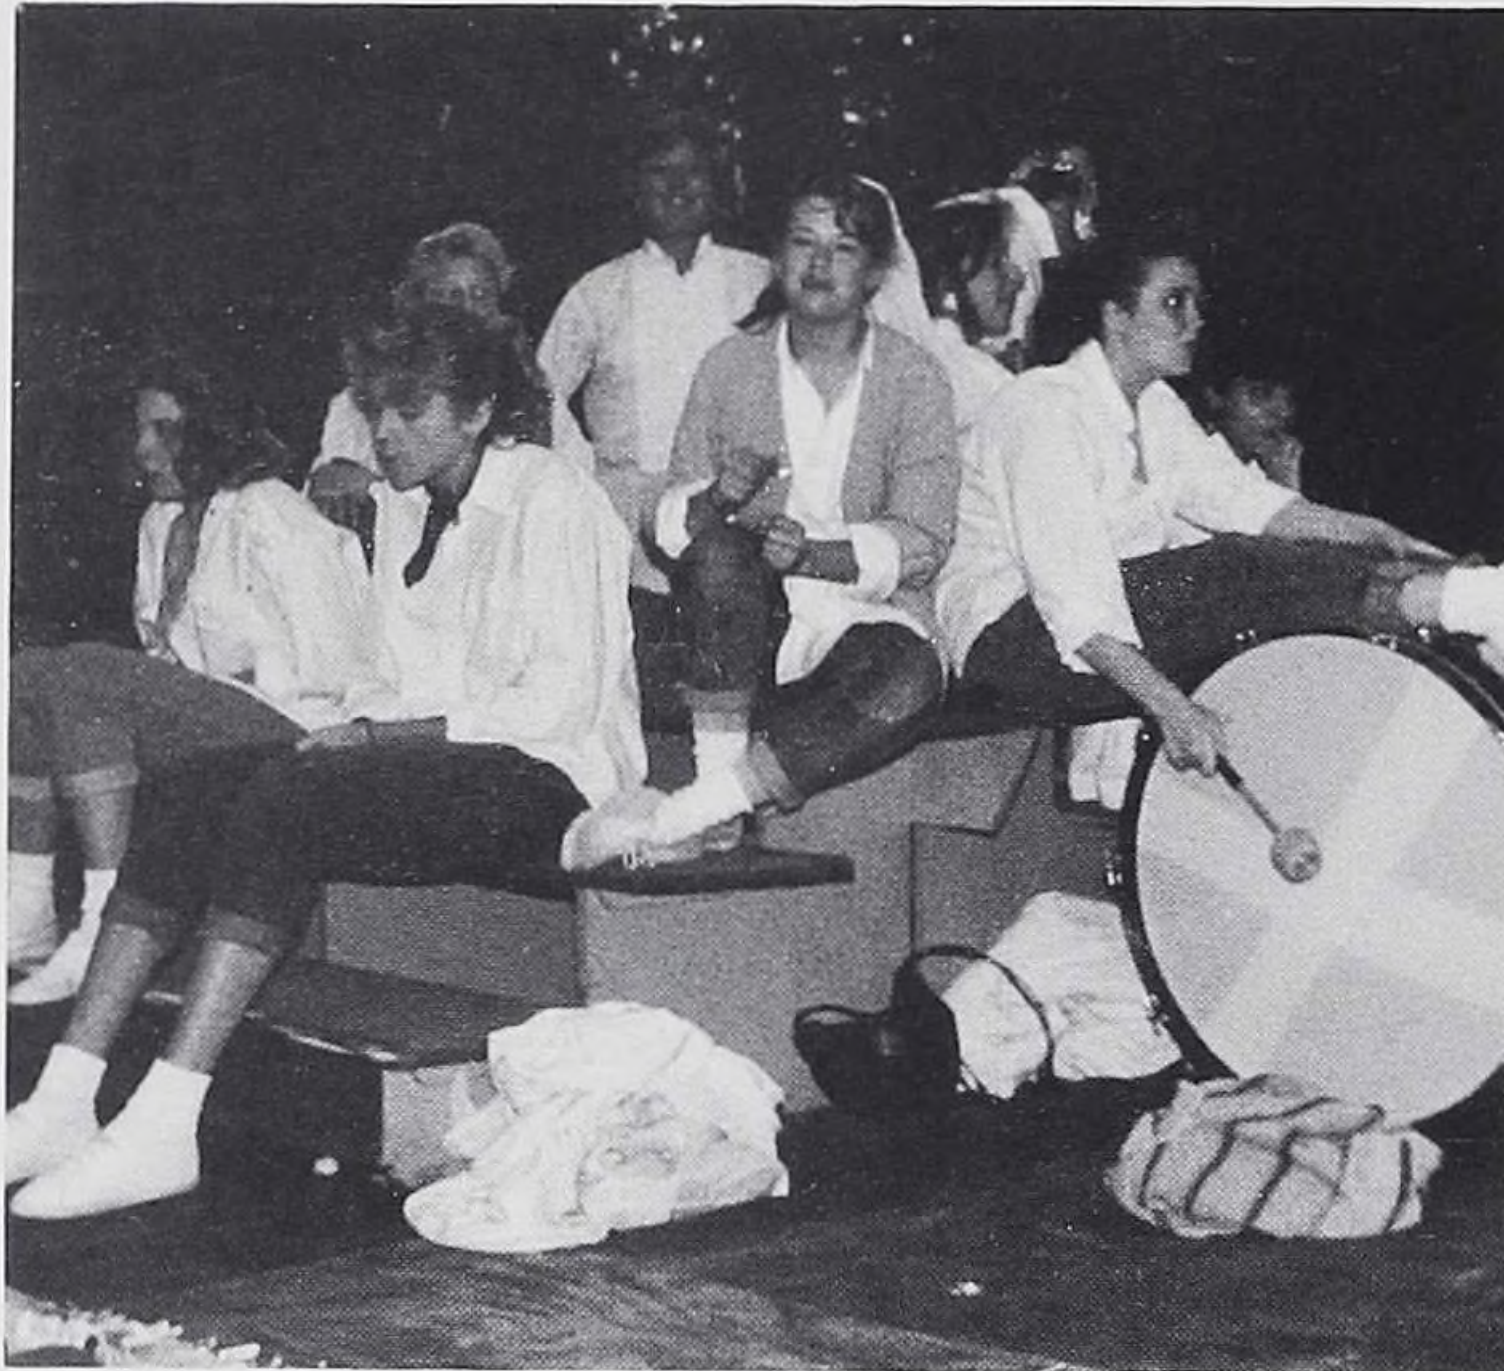

To get the idea going, there was a homeroom competition. Each homeroom teacher was asked to count the number of students displaying the school colors in homeroom. The winning homeroom received free passes to the football game.

Wearing red and gold didn't stop with the students. Through the efforts of Mrs. Wanda Stebbins, the staff of Olean High School became involved.

Now on Fridays don't be surprised to see the staff wearing sweaters and shirts bearing the school colors, Red & Gold.

VALEDICTORIAN

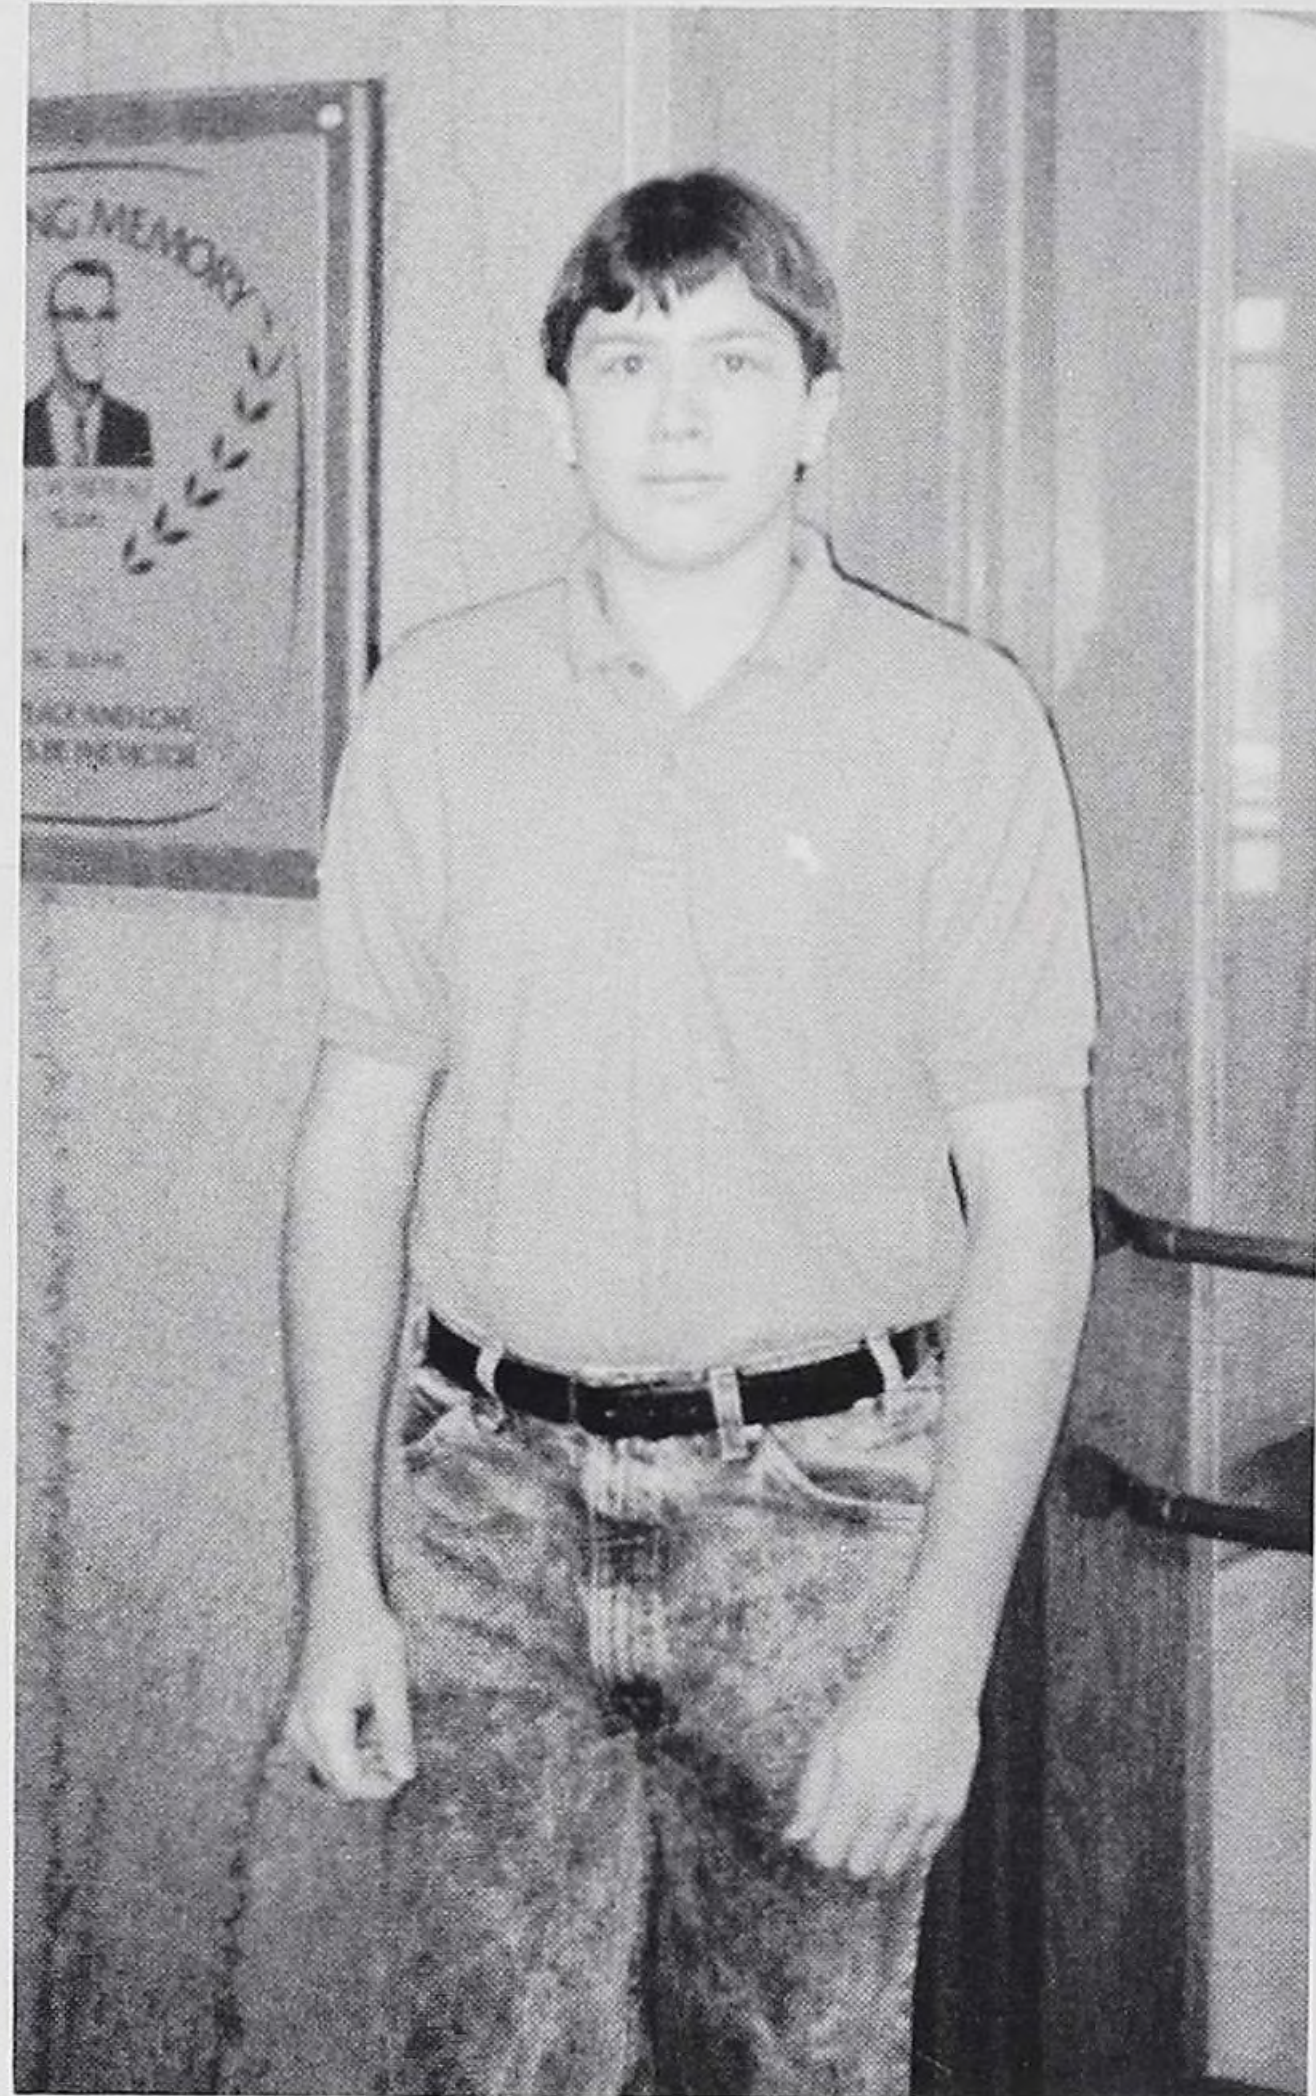

Erik Simpson

As a student at Olean High School, Erik participated in band, orchestra, chorus, jazz band, all-state musicals, co-captain of the pep band, and golf team. Last year he participated in the Lion's Club Honor Band and performed with the NYSSMA All-State Jazz Ensemble in November of 1989. Erik also recorded the second highest score on the National Merit Scholarship in New York State. His hobbies include baseball, golf and tennis.

With a grade point average of 97.5, we have great expectations for him. We would like to extend our congratulations to Erik and wish him luck in the future.

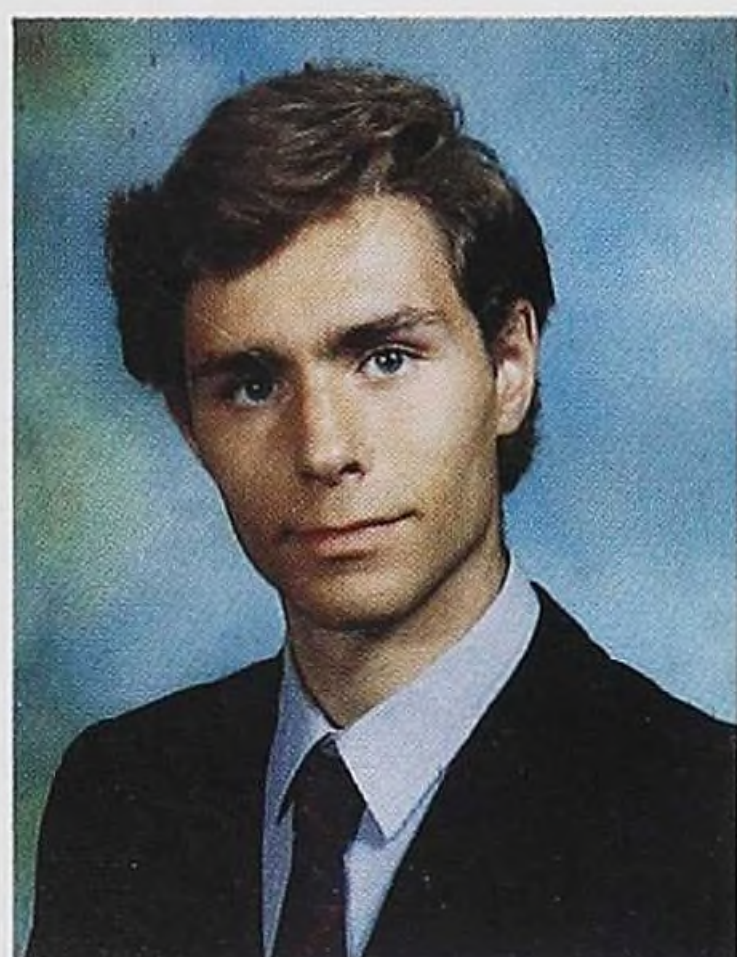

SALUTATORIAN

Christopher Sutter

Chris has acquired a 95.607 grade point average and also has contributed to several high school activities. These activities include: band, National Honor Society, and Varsity Soccer. In addition to his school activities, Chris is also a newspaper carrier and enjoys collecting baseball cards and memorabilia.

Good luck Chris, we hope you succeed in everything you decide to do.

Season was highlighted by some outstanding efforts and some record breaking performances.

Kerrie Haggerty established new school record in the 100 Butterfly. She was undefeated throughout the season until states where placed 12th.

Cara Delaney established a few new school records in the 200 free, 100 free, and the 500 free.

Both girls will be returning next year to help our young team which is improving every day.

Olean High

The main idea behind the Participatory Government internship program was to get away from the "traditional" classroom setting and to allow the students an opportunity of flexibility and contact with their own local community. Also to give them an understanding of what goes on in various agencies and organizations throughout the community.

This "hands on" type of learning experience has far surpassed any text that might have been used. A text cannot teach civil responsibility, social contacts and communication skills with which these students have dealt. The students are given the chance to experience real life situations in the world which comes after graduation.

OHS SADD CHAPTER

WHAT HAPPENED TO JENNY

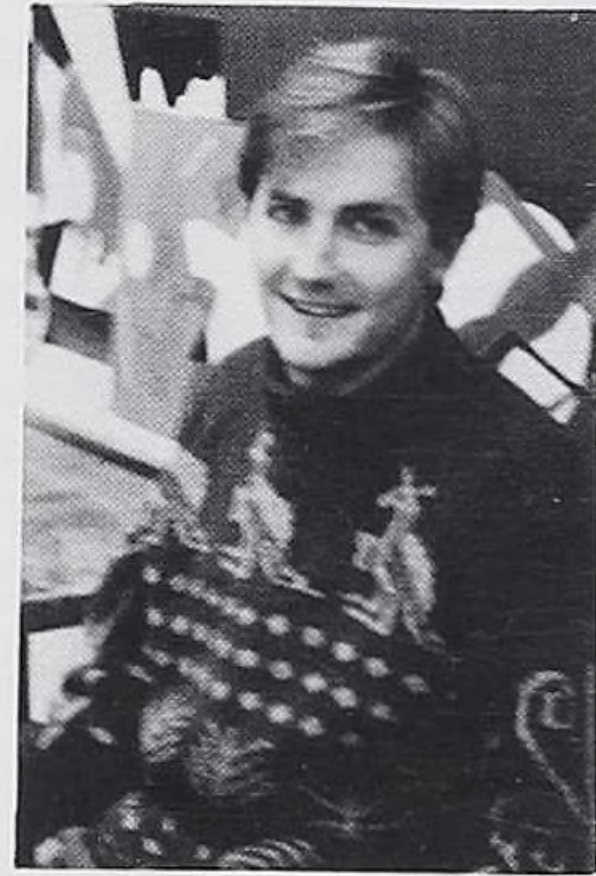

Once upon a time, not too long ago,
In a city, not far from here,
Jenny and friends went out for a drive,
Right after having a beer.
"We didn't drink much" she said with a yell,
"Nothing will happen to us"
"Don't worry about it sit down and relax",
"You don't need to make such a fuss"
And so with that reasoning, Jenny drove off,
Along with her friends, who were drunk,
Jenny and friends, drove off a bridge
And before long, in water had sunk.
Jenny escaped, but her friends,
stayed trapped in the car in the lake,
If only she'd realized ahead of that time
How much trouble a few beers could make!
Somehow she got home, feeling guilty and sick,
And thoughts of her friends filled her head,
She knew she must go to their parents and say,
"I'm sorry you're children are dead."
Jenny served time, was released on parole,
Her lesson she said she learned,
But that didn't comfort the heartache of those,
Who's children will never return.
The moral of the story (I'm sure you can guess)
Is don't drink and then start to drive,
Do not get into a car after drinking,
For you may not come out alive!

SADD

The Olean SADD chapter in the 1989-1990 school year has instilled and performed many activities towards the fight against drunk driving. Among these was the Fashion and Variety Show held in October. There was also a designated SADD Week with a variety of activities for each day involving students and faculty. Also T-shirts and key chains with the SADD logo were sold to benefit the chapter. Many more activities will be held before this year ends. Please join in and help the fight against drunk driving.

CLASS PROPHECY

WHEN: The Year 2000

WHO: The Class of 1990

WHAT: Our 10-year reunion

DESTINATION: Unknown

I, Louis Nicol, your principal, would like to take you on a fantastic journey . . .

The Class of 1990 is assembling for their 10-year reunion. They will be flying in from various parts of the world to meet in Los Angeles. From there, they will board the Pacific Princess, a.k.a. The Love Boat, and cruise to an unknown destination.

As Angel Dimpfl, Molly Evans, Jeanette Shafer, and Shelly St. Clair begin their drive to the airport, a speedy yellow taxi swerves to miss a pedestrian, who turns out to be Paul Elias. Paul escapes unhurt; however, the taxi crashes into a van containing Ed Foster, Samantha Freer, and Jennifer Foss. Closer observation proves the wild taxi driver to be Beth Goodrich! I hope they all make it to the airport on time!

Speaking of the airport, let's see how things look there. Many class members have already arrived. Look! There's Tara Backhaus! She's still wearing those high heels! And here comes Jason Storch, Shane Olivett, Mike Martel, and Mike Ford! They have just flown in from France, where they played in their third consecutive World Soccer Championship.

As I board the plane, I see Lyn Mahar, Amy Ford, Cliff Gleason, Tracy Baker, and Ed Ellis finding their seats. I sit in my seat, and I watch as everyone reacquaints. There goes Chris Sutter to give some last minute advice to pilot Jason Dupre. Typical of Chris, wouldn't you say? But I have no doubt that Jason will get us there safely. Someone is giving the flight attendant, Nicole Nudd, some sweet lines. Who else could it be but Sean "the Stud-Muffin" Crandall. Katie Johnson walks past and Sean's attention is distracted from Nicole to his next prey. As they take their seats, Katie Colligan and Chad Ketchner arrive — are they still together? A football is thrown from the back of the plane and Walt Treaster makes a perfect catch and screams "TOUCHDOWN!" Gerald Slack hits him from behind and knocks him to the floor. So much confusion and as I turn around I see no one else but Brian George. I should have known he'd be the cause of this. In front of me there are a bunch of girls acting so excited to see each other again. Fawn Sprague, Michelle Siago, Valerie Rishel, Heather Muir, and Natalie Ogden sit down quickly and start telling each other of their experiences over the last few years.

Jason comes over the intercom and tells everyone to find their seats for take off. People seat themselves and just as the plane doors are about to close Amber Magro and Bridget Hannon run in. Bridget is blaming Amber for their lateness because of the last minute dinner Amber had to have, yet I know it was because of the last minute touching up Bridget had to do on her face and hair.

Once in the air, things settle down and a movie starts. It's so nice to see that some members of the Drama Club have made it to the "Big Time". Starring in the movie were Andrea Schwabenbauer, Jennifer Godfrey, Karl Myers, Katie Hall, and Mike Barone. In fact, this is the sequel to the big box office smash they did last year! Nicole comes down the aisle offering refreshments to Sandy Mulryan and Angelina Namia. She turns to me and asks me if I would like something. For a change she actually asked a sensible question. All the excitement has caused me to become very drowsy . . .

. . . I wake up and the movie's credits are rolling. I notice Jim Shaw's name, as he was in charge of light, sound, and all special effects for the movie. That is quite a step up from making cheerleading tapes! Seeing the sound track go by, I notice songs performed by Jason Beane (drums), Erik Simpson (sax and keyboard), Chris Mutty (guitar), and Vicki Maier (lead vocals). I was quite impressed!

Stewardess Donna Foster's voice tells us to fasten our seat belts as we begin our descent to the Los Angeles Airport. Once the plane stops people start pushing towards the door. A fight breaks out; it's Tom Silluzio and Mike Neuland — teapoints! Oh I guess it doesn't count for them anymore. Boy am I getting old! Ronny Lott and David Shewairy, members of the CHIPS patrol, break up the fight and remind everyone we are here to have a good time.

Out of the terminal and into the airport we meet up with another flight just coming in. This plane is arriving from overseas. Joaquin Adsuar returns to the U.S. from Spain for the first time since graduation. Following him off the plane are Jeanette Mater and Kim Litteer who had been visiting their Spanish boyfriend. Chris Barbaro and Gary Ramire also depart from the plane. This reunion was a perfect excuse for them to leave Italy and come to the U.S. Two more members of the class get off the plane. Pam Porcello and Silva Sute arrive from their Basketball Championships in Yugoslavia (they won!).

As I step on the bus that will take me to the ship, I notice the driver is Chris Sherlock. I thought it would be wiser to walk the four miles to the port, but then I saw Roy Dwailebe and Ray Douthit and they beckoned me to sit down by them. When I sat down, I looked to my right and noticed that Tim Retchless was in the seat next to me. I said hello but he didn't hear me over his walkman blaring some Springsteen tape. So many people were on the bus that I haven't seen in years . . . Shawn Swanson, Rachel Yeager, Matt Melnyk, Scott Nary, Ronnette Pops, Glenn Vaughn, Michael Shoup, Kim Anastasia . . . As I sit here, I wonder what success these people have brought to their lives.

The breaks jam and the bus screeches to a halt. I knew I should have walked. Debbie Bloise and Jeni Hughes hop on the bus with loads of luggage. They take their seats and we're off again.

Moments later we arrive at the port. Other buses bringing in people for the reunion. Dan Kubic stumbles off the bus . . . Brings back memories, doesn't it? Dan? Keith VanDeusen and Kevin Shay pick him up and carry him to the ship. Noticing their condition, I am surprised they can carry him! It all makes sense when I see Jim Rodger and Dan Hoffman carrying a large silver container off the bus. Won't these guys ever change!?

More people get off the bus. Kim Rudy, Heather Bushnell, Angel Fisher, Tammie Martin, and Krista Nary hop off and run to the ship. They must want first dibs on the sun chairs.

As I board the Love Boat, Jennifer Mongold and Paula Grove catch up and walk with me. We are greeted by Jeni Nevins, our Cruise Director, and Will Schrot, the ship's doctor. I hear running footsteps behind me and a voice yelling, "Slow down Jeanne!". I dive out of the way for fear of Jeanne Harrington crashing into me. But it's too late. She trips, lands on me, and we both fall to the floor. So nice to see you again Jeanne. Marcy Krahe, Lisa Kahle, and Carrie Richards bust into laughter, as does everyone else in the lobby. Unfortunately for Jeanne, a video camera operated by Bill Stern caught the whole event. Aaron Sawaya and Amy Suda come down the steps and enter the lobby. I guess that "Together Forever" on the bathroom walls at OHS really was true!

Here comes Susanna Bathurst and Courtney Enright. Looks like they're still best friends after all these years. They see Guy Prosper, the Love Boat's Captain, and walk over to talk with him. I overhear Guy inform them that Zane "Gofer" Davison is the Yeoman Purser. What a surprise considering he won so many NASCAR races over the last few years. How many of you the Class of 1990-in-never thought these two would have control of all our lives for the next week?

A crowd of people enter the lobby all at once. I see Justin Walterich, Mike Shoup, Tapatha Klingbeil, Carl Snyder, Craig Tarbox, Nicole Isaman, Mark Quinn

Susan Argula, Yvette Bolton, and Jeremy Schoephlin. Their bus was running late and they were afraid of missing the departure. They all seem to be in a hurry even though they are already on board. Carl bumps into Tapatha and her suitcase opens up, spilling her clothes all over the floor. Members of the crew help pick up her belongings. Jeni gives them their cabin numbers and they run in the direction of the Promenade Deck.

The horn blows and we all stand next to the rails throwing streamers and confetti to those watching our wonderful departure into the unknown. Let's hope Guy knows where he is taking us!

A few hours later, after everyone has unpacked and rested, most head towards the dining room. Oh my gosh, they brought back the same lunch ladies! Here I see many other people I had not seen yet. Jody Babb waves to me from across the room. At a table adjacent to his sits Denise Robak and Laura Marowski. Still eating that Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream, guys? I glance at a picture hanging on the wall, and notice it was painted by Shawn Rees. Seeing him now, I compliment him on his fine work.

I sit down at my table, and my waitress, Christine Bishop, takes my order. Deverin Cowher walks to the buffet with me. As we approach it, I notice the man ahead of me has a building etched in the back of his head. By golly, it's Olean High School! He turns around, and I recognize him as Jason Clemons. We have a good laugh about his tribute to our reunion, and he tells me about his success as a famous Hollywood "Barber" and fashion coordinator. I hear someone yell "Louie!" from across the room. I turn to see Max Baire waving at Jason and me. Old SAC President turned Army Captain. He is dining with Lisa Padro, the ship's star lounge singer. Jason and I wander over to their table. They are talking about old times. I wonder if over the years Max has found more than "just a friend" . . .

Dinner is over, and some guests retire to their cabins while others go out for a night of dancing. I sit down at the bar and see Patty Washington, Kristie Townsend, Cindy Mikolajczyk, Mindy Campbell, and Ann Hryb are the final contestants in the limbo contest. I remember the days when I was the "Limbo King". Caught up in my memories, I find myself halfway under the limbo stick. Once I realize what I'm doing, I cry for help. Randy Larrabee and Howard Gould come to my rescue. They carry me off the floor to their table where Eric Garland is seated. They buy me a drink and Will ventures over to give me some aspirin and make sure I am alright. How embarrassing!

As the four of us sit here and talk, we notice Kevin Martin, Andrew John, Kevin Woodring, Harold Murphy, Mike Dorenkamper, Brad Fairfield, and Pat Burrell sitting at the bar reminiscing. Their loudness is what drew my attention to them — they seem to be enjoying the cruise. The bartender, Mike Cavana, asks them to keep the noise down as they are causing quite a ruckus. It's been a long day, I'm getting tired, and I decide it's time to hit the sac . . .

. . . the next morning I get up, ready to bask in the sun. When I go for breakfast on the deck, no one is there. Probably because — the weather started getting rough, the mighty ship was tossed, if not for the courage of the fearless crew, the Princess would be lost, the Princess would be lost — I was thrown into the guardrail and fell overboard.

Just as I hit the water, I woke up face down on the floor next to my bed. Whew! Just a bad dream. Frantically I dress and walk to the deck to catch some rays. John Bailey and Dennis Chambers are just getting in from the night before. They mumble a cheerless "Good morning" as they open their cabin door. John Fitch and Mindee McIntosh run by me. They are both in training for the Boston Marathon. How can they be so energetic this early in the morning? Then again, they always were. Must be in the red hair.

I get to the deck and see Ben Cunningham, Rick Carpenter, and Christine Latten having breakfast by the pool. Colonel Mark Jones salutes me. He has "been all he can be"! He is trying to recruit Luke Putzke and Tammy Hakes. They smile and walk away. An array of people are lying on the deck chairs. Kathy Ingram and Michelle Jurenko better flip over soon; they are starting to burn.

Jeni's voice comes over the loudspeaker and announces that a shuffle board tournament will begin soon on the Aloha Deck. Eric Rouse, Dan Barr, Scott Sherwood, and Doug Gunsolus run towards the deck. Cindy Connelly and Teresa Marcellin sit at the bar drinking margaritas. They watch Paul Stark, Steve Gallo, Tom Orcutt, Pat Blehar, Mindy Stevenson, Jennifer Swartz, Stacey Travis, and Jeanette Mater play volleyball in the pool. Guys on one side, girls on the other — reminds me of a Jr. High dance!

After dinner, I go to watch the evening show. As I walk in I see the stand-up comedian, Amy Johnston, doing impressions of all the "favorite" teachers of OHS. Takes me back to all her performances in Senior Skits. Following Amy's show, Chris Welch, the Love Boat's star dancer, dances to all the oldies but goodies — songs sung by such legends as Janet Jackson and Salt-N-Pepa. When the entertainment is over, Lisa and Vicki sing a duet and everyone timidly walks to the dance floor. Old sweethearts reacquaint and start to dance. Chris and Jason, Amy Stephan and Guy, Amber and Tom, Colleen Smith and Bill (He even put his Cam-Corder down for this one), Pam and Brian, Karen Schwartz and Bret Champlin (Where are the 73 kids?) all seem to be rekindling the old flame. Hmmm.

A sudden crash and a laugh I have never forgotten stopped all the action. Michelle Roberts has fallen out of her chair (causing a run in her nylons) laughing hysterically. Terri Wilson walks away, embarrassed by Michelle's outburst. Bobby Jo Morgan helps Michelle up, and the two of them leave the lounge.

I decide I've had enough fun for the day and start back to my cabin. Exiting the lounge, Joan Piccirillo and Joni Riesdorph stop me and insist that I join them for dessert in the Cove. We go and devour an incredible dessert prepared by the ship's chefs, Mike Zampogna and Darik Layman. I compliment them on their creation and head for my room for a good night's sleep.

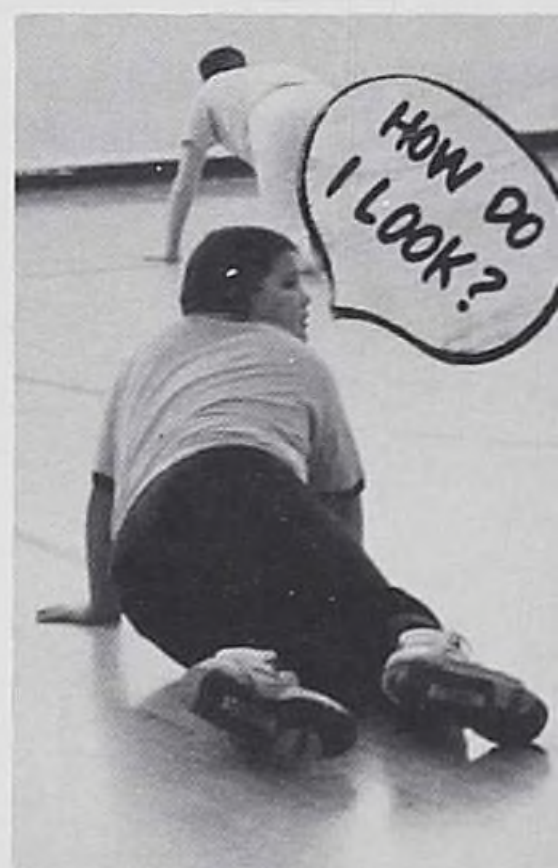

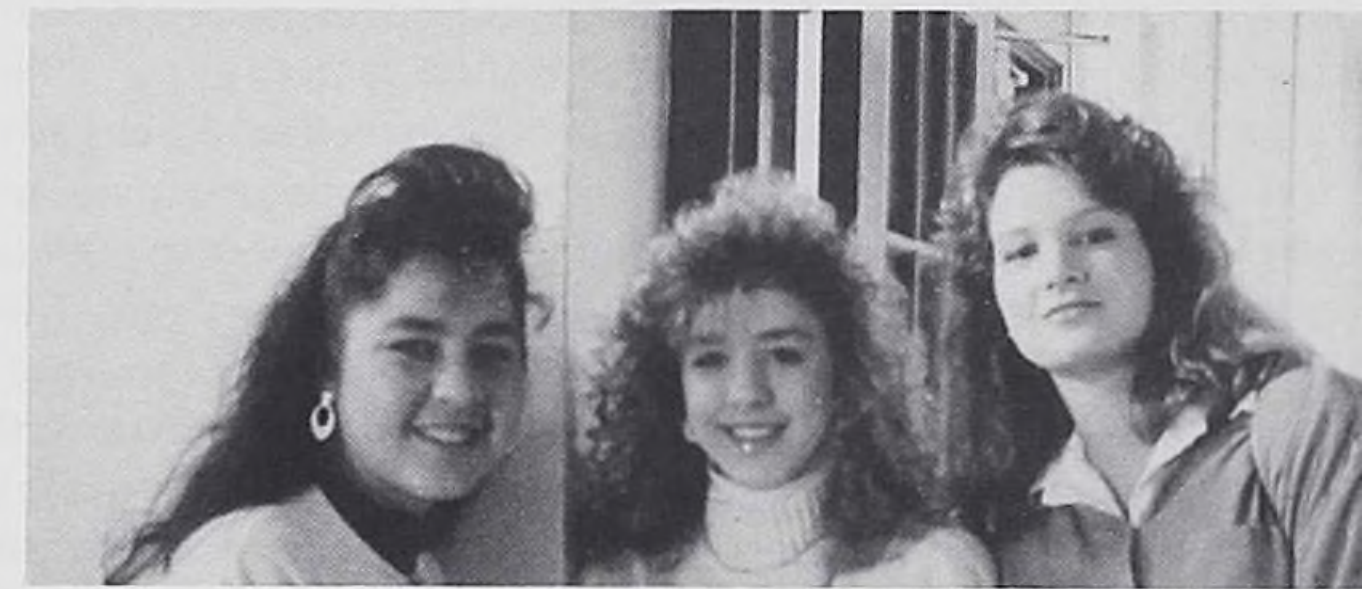

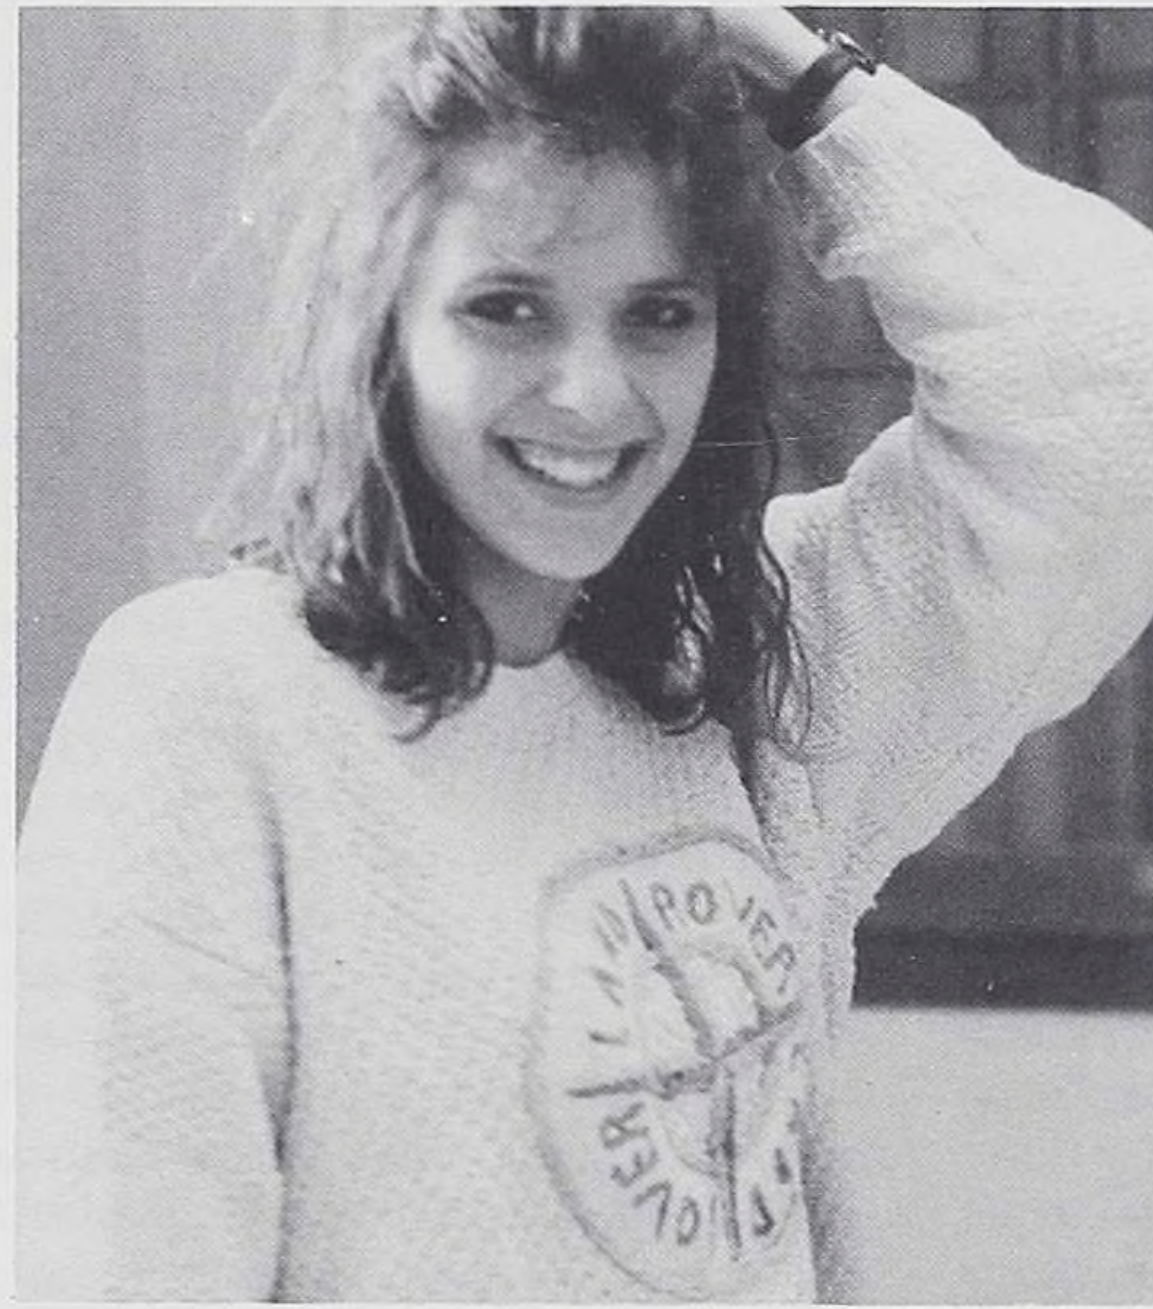

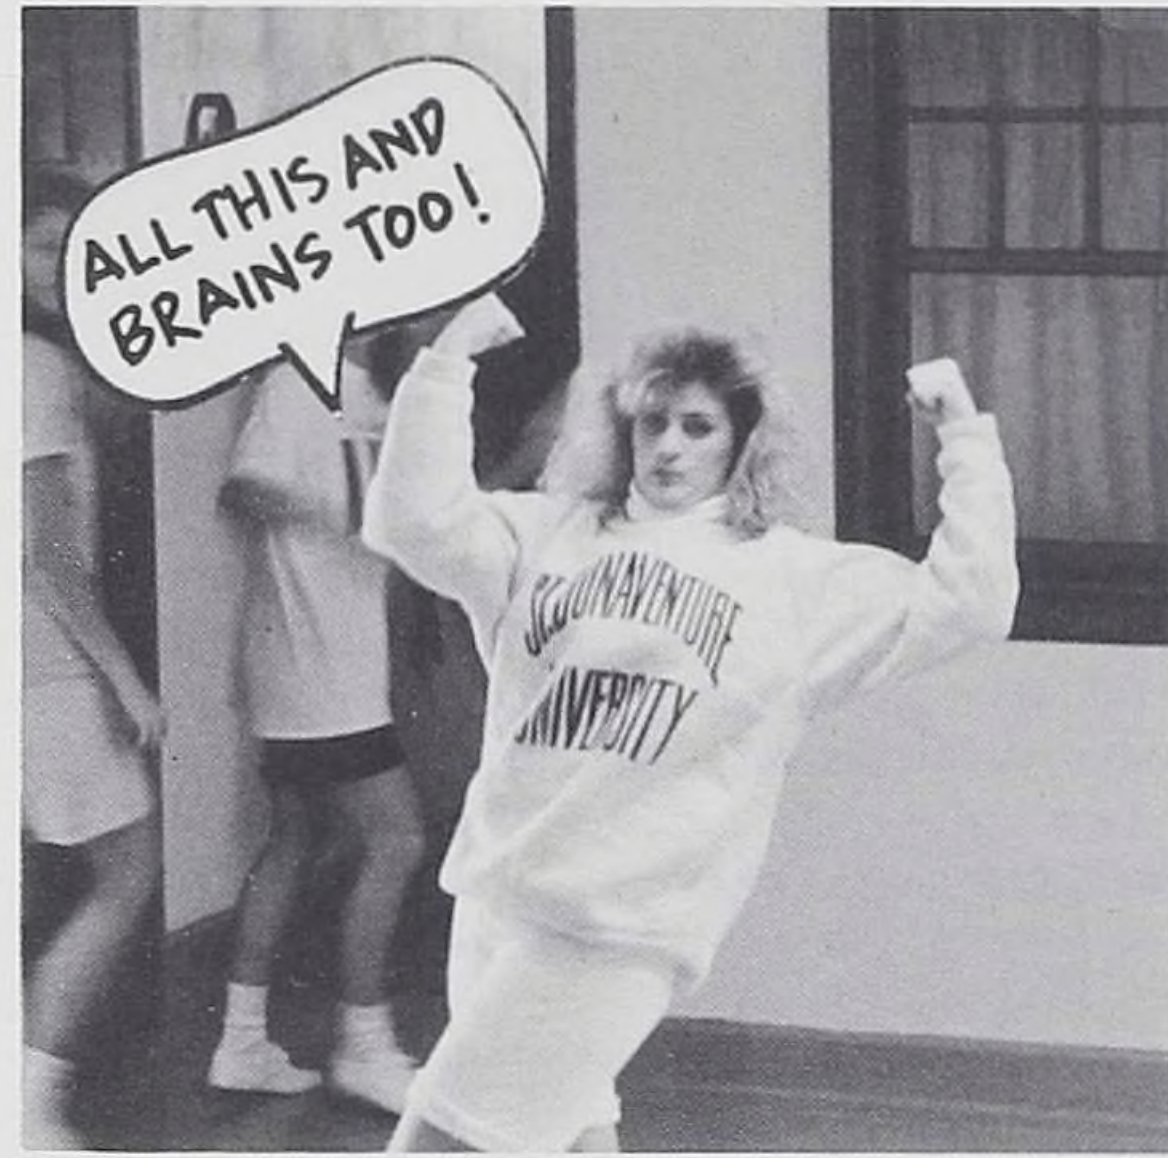

I wake up and the sun is beaming through my cabin window. Outside my cabin I hear Brent Cygan and Howie Bartz planning dates with some of the ship's attendants. I smile and walk past and Tina Capito runs into me. She drops the book she was reading and I pick it up for her. We join Cliff Gleason and Sean Hibbard and walk to breakfast. Jennifer Howard and Krista Perry are target shooting and wave their guns at us as we pass. I duck in fear. When we get to the Sunrise Deck Kurt Martin and Shawn Greenwood remind me that I promised to join them for lunch. I remember that I had also made plans with John Cunningham and Shawn Lindstrom. We decide to make it a five-some at noon.

At one of the tables sits Jeff Howard, Kevin Ketchner, Chris Byrne, and Pat Zink playing poker. Pat seems to be winning. They are talking about all the poker nights at Bill's Backyard Barbecue and Kevin reminds Jeff of his "spatula" hand.

Michelle Miller and Krista Burrow are lying next to the pool talking to lifeguard Todd Walter. I bet he's trying to get a date. Good-luck! Rae Torrey walks by and sits down next to Gina Merlo and Sarah VanDixon. They order drinks and prepare to tan. Dan Hirt meanders over to a fruit stand. Oddly enough he finds that it only sells pickles. Who else could the owner be but Mary Lucarelli! Realizing this Angela Aiello goes over and orders a pickle.

Days pass and our trip is coming to an end. Tonight is our last night on the cruise, and we'll go to the ship's theater to watch movies that Bill has taped of the Class of 1990 from high school until this reunion. Everyone shares laughter and tears as we watch. The movies end and everyone goes out for a night of dancing and partying.

The next morning I get out of bed and pack my things. I must say that this is the best reunion that I have ever attended. From their first day at Olean High, through the Homecoming Hall Decoration and Float WINS, their exceptional Senior Skits, right up to Graduation, they were THE CLASS OF 1990 . . . AND THEY RULE!!!
