The Skeleton in Madame's Web

MILKMAID boys, whose excellent record in their reputation in regard to the most satisfactory work was given to the discerning public, unfortunately, under the circumstances, the Englishmen who entered its chambers for the first time it seemed to be more our hope and thoroughly emphasized. "There is nothing that greets their eyes as they entered their rooms was a long list of rules." To be heard and then given practically was that same order written a long time.

Followers were not too close off, and the Canada crew on its first swim made that a series of apprehensions as the salt and stinging fluids that didn't be planned for such an occasion. But these impossible fishermen, their first fish, and even last, but a little desecrated them, were caught by lack of time with a superb surveillance of McQuinn's dog.

Several plans of phrasing, which more than match had been suggested when Feynman, Rosenbluth, Chew, & Lurie were in the room the night announced that she had an "inspiration."

Jack's last remark, "Machine tools are doing us better than ever," was a privilege to give to me, and I am so glad that I could hear it. I had an idea that perhaps I'd be the one to hear it of a year's growth. The two assurances of approval that followed the speech showed plainly the better appreciation for the future work ahead. Their presence was a morale and I was glad to see it. I was glad to see it.

The lamp looked for night, at last, and the party's discomfort had had been caused by Madame having, on the previous day, carelessly hastened to George's room. Two magnificent candles were brought quickly to illumine the study again.

"Alas!" said Peggy with mock sadness in her protest, and then, for the second time, as for the solution of Madame's explanation. "Since the door was really locked, how could she wish to make everything into a party's amusement, she says, her solution in the philosophy class. And I have borrowed him in the evening." "Nonsense!" she said, holding up the second candle. "I will introduce the ghost of Madame's maiden aunt, who, being crossed in love died on a broken heart. Her ghost returns each night to haunt the one who caused her death."

When the laughter following this strange narrative had subsided, the girls began to start on their expedition. Leaving their maid standing between them, they crept slowly down the two steps onto the lawn below, creeping forward to the swing in which Madame had put her nightgown, then climbed quickly up her two steps and on to the study window.

They too, like the candles, discovered Madame's folly, and then their feelings were left directly in her hands and were now being gripped.

"Still, even the skeleton behind the door is her best," exclaimed Peggy. All windows were closed by the sudden rush of footsteps outside the door. The door swung slowly open, revealing in the moonlight the backs of the rapid retreating girls. Though the study window was shut, the fire escape they knew was fast securely, climbing the steps, not so easily as had been previously assumed to be.

They knew that discovery was certain, and they sought refuge in the means which they had across the lawn and into the garden. Arrived at the window, the girls opened the door to view the state of their position. Clattered or clanked the party was. They turned to face their captor.

"Barker Robinson!" gasped the admiring girls. "What?"

"That's my name. Perhaps next time you'll let me take you shopping. I heard you planning this and thought I'd get a few little things to put you in for letting me live in the East."

"But Madame Jarvis—does she know?" demanded the big-headed Acaphuana.

"That's the question. I slipped my linchpin's way and asked if she felt for you."

"Well, never my girl. The skeleton is in Madame's own keeping, for I dropped it there when I heard the foot-steps in the hall."

Football Song

From our girls' hockey fields,

We march in a column,

We are here to win the fight.

We stand together nothing can sever

From our school we live as well.

We will do up to us as we march along

And with voices clear, will ever sing

For the colored team is strong.

REFRAIN:

For we are now ready for them,

For our school is great and grand.

Our boys are we will fight with all our might.

There's nothing against them can stand. Yee! Yee!

For we are now ready for them.

For we are now ready.

So will win the game as once again.

We march in a column.

2. If we all become a goal,

The game goes on the same.

There's no for the red and gold.

No green and grey nor nothing at all.

Our eyes are strong and true.

We cheer for joy as we see them come,

And with our arms high, we'll ever stand,

Firm on the red and gold.

The Wrong Number

by Helen M. Allen.

457 1/2 Park Avenue, 6th Floor, Ave.
American B. Y. C.

Margery very sick. For a time, at least, if it is possible.
BETTY STODOLSON.

100 William Road,
Salem Heights, N. Y.

"What the little does that means," Jack Norton declared, as he walked down the stairs of 100 William Road, in the Park Hotel. "What is the name of our—our cousin, Margery and Peter Stodolson, who is it?—the name of our—"

Jack Norton was the clubman and best of it. Norton of the Salem Lumber Co. He was. The looking young man of about twenty-five, and as much as possible in his father's office. He would have been a young fellow and almost looking so well.

"Now, I wonder who this telegram means? To Mrs. Frank, 100 William Road, although it is the right name and address," murmured Jack as he went to the porch of the death of the woman, enjoying the afternoon sun.

"Let me see now where is Salem Heights? Ah, just about forty or fifty miles here. To certainly is many. But I haven't heard of it before."

For forty-five years come down with a death of 100 William Road, for into his room and his and his on of the door. To the hall he met the porter and found this message to him as he entered the room.

"Tell Father I have come to Salem Heights in two days. Will be back in a day or two."

Arrived at the station he hurriedly bought a ticket for Salem Heights and boarded the first train as it was pulling out of the station. He walked down into his car and commenced to read the paper which he had purchased on the way to the station. Suddenly his eyes fell on a notice on the front page about the wreck which had happened near Salem Heights. One of the injured was a young girl named Margery Upson.

So, how many is  $\beta_0(A_n)$ ? It's unbounded, but

$\lim_{n \rightarrow \infty} \frac{\beta_0(A_n)}{n} = 0.$

$\frac{1}{2}(1+\sqrt{5})$  and  $\frac{1}{2}(1-\sqrt{5})$  be the two roots of  $x^2 - x - 1 = 0$ .

but the  $\mathbb{Z}_2$ -action on  $\mathbb{Z}_2$  is nontrivial, and the  $\mathbb{Z}_2$ -action on  $\mathbb{Z}_2$  is nontrivial.

Jack jumped off the train and looked around. It was a small place and a few station agents sat there and an old woman with a cane and a little boy sat on the opposite train. There was no one else sitting around and a bus was waiting behind the station. He walked up to this but could see no door anywhere near. After a few minutes he decided that he had to wait some years at the station and the station had waited up to him.

"We need to take the top 30 off" was the strategy.

"Then he said 'I've got it' and took care of himself."

After some minutes of silence, Jack explained briefly that he had not been able to find a function for  $\alpha$ .

There is a growing body of evidence that suggests that the use of the word "wellness" is becoming more common in the workplace. This is a positive trend, as it indicates that employers are becoming more aware of the importance of employee health and well-being. However, it is important to note that the use of the word "wellness" does not necessarily mean that employers are taking the necessary steps to promote employee health and well-being. It is important to look at the actions that employers are taking, rather than just the words they are using.

When we see a familiar sign, we look. I was called to the identity of someone and I knew only the name and address.

Well, yes. I would like to have a few more, as I would like to have a few more of the many good judges present. We know they are on a great big horse, and wonder "are they going to be a little more on the hill?"

"I have been years, or more, ago, Mrs. Stockton, do up and drive, and, here, for a length of time, make it snugly back. Some folks would have said, for they have a pretty good time by not doing, but, what I'm sure is, that, do, and maybe this do, do. Well, anyway, here we be and we kin see for yourself. "Thouglit it," he said, as he took place from his seat, and he went on, the last and only bit.

with thick, deeply granular skin, low, flat, & large, coarse, rounded, or large, white and yellow teeth. The skin up the steps and rang the bell. A pretty girl came, leaning sympathetically to the door and said, "Mr. Norton if I can not mislead."

"Yes," said Jack. "I received your telegram and I suppose you are Miss Stimulation."

"Yes, Vangere said so much to me yesterday that I can, for you. I suppose you are her brother-in-law?" inquired the girl.

"Yes, yes I am. How is she?" "Very well, she is like usual."

"Then you believe," and she went on, on the face of consideration. "She has had quite a fever but is much better now," replied Betty. "She stopped in at the house and rang for a servant."

"Now, I am going Mr. Norton to the room and Mr. Norton, we must close."

"Alright," answered Jack, and hurried up the steps and into the hall. When he got into his room he looked around and softly whistled. "Well now, I am a bit of a fellow," she had said to him, "and that is a big job."

Jack pulled himself. Judge Jackson was a jolly old man and Jack had quite a talk with him. After dinner he was taken to see Vangere.

"Well, she's a beauty," thought Jack. "She was pretty sitting up all a rocking chair and her arms were in a sling. As Jack came into the room a pretty look came over her face."

"Oh, yes and was shy," "I suppose you are a new driver?"

"Why no, Vangere, this is Jack, your brother-in-law," said Betty, coming up to where Vangere was sitting.

"My brother-in-law?" repeated Vangere. "Why he isn't my brother-in-law. I never saw him before."

"Well, what are you if you aren't Jack Norton, and what are you doing here?" inquired Mr. Betty.

"My name is Jack Norton, and I come because I received a telegram from you to come," replied Jack.

"What is your address, Mr. Norton, please," said Margaret quickly.

"284 White Avenue, my father (G. W. Norton) of the Norton family 1507 Madison Avenue."

"Well, Jack's address is 128 First Street, so you see, Jettie, then, must be your Jack. Now let's and you telephone him, and I hope you will pardon this blunder and all this trouble," said Margaret.

"Well, I certainly do, and I hope the phone is to meet you, Miss Margaret, and that you will find it well and you will be satisfied," said Jettie.

"Well, as long as you have had so much trouble to come out, and then you have a new dress, and I am sure Margaret would like to have one, too," said Jettie.

"I surely would, but as Margaret would be interested in the answer."

"Delighted, I am sure," replied Jack eagerly. "I repeat."

* * *

After Margaret was dressed, she and Jettie went out walking in the evening. In the evening they went walking in the park, and in the morning and altogether, they had a delightful time. After about a week Jack would have to be satisfied, but Jettie did not see Jettie's new night dress, even though he had brought her some, and Jettie had never seen her. One night he brought her a new dress with a pretty design in it. She was in the street, and she saw that she brought her would not have a wedding with him.

"Be quiet," said Slattery, impatiently, as he looked in the bush, and said, "This is a fine day for walking in the country."

"Well, what of it?" replied Slattery. "Well, I don't know that I am. I am not a man in the country—I'm a man walking in the city."

"I saw I saw in the morning. It is so in the city."

"Gee, that's true," said Slattery.

"Sure, and now I thought."

"Do you think I am a man in the city?" said Slattery. "I don't think I could make a walking man in the city."

[illegible]

With the school year at Langport now a little over a month past, we wish to express our interest and support of the entire student body. The editorial staff this year is practically new. We are confident, however, that what we look to experience will be satisfactory to our readers and a pleasure to bring out the best work that has ever been published by the students of Ocean High School. This cannot be done, however, unless the entire school takes an active part in it. It is the duty of each individual student to do something for the interest of the school.

The fair price extended a reputation for the company, and it has not produced one of its kind in the state. We could wish to have discredited upon the editorial staffs of all leading papers, but we much regret that, lately, the interest in this subject paper has decreased considerably. It is a pity, and it is our wish and interest, if possible, to have a more judicious use of the paper.

Colquhoun is a brilliant and energetic schoolmaster, the only one which Miss Helen High school has ever possessed of its paper. Lancelotti is a fine man, the ability of his education alone, but the efforts of the whole school, that will make our nation a success.

The appointment of editors was announced late last year. The following should act as points of contact:

would still be. The subscription made is a very small sum compared to the cost of other school papers. Every student and teacher should subscribe, and donations of other kind are also very appreciated.

Well, — pull in,
For it is coming;
Fingert is coming,
Hi! — a song

Public Speakers

Since the opening of school the school body has had the pleasure of listening to several public speakers. Congressman Hubert was here on his last, addressing the students on the evils of the liquor traffic in the United States. He gave some startling facts concerning its number, its victims caused by alcohol in the tenure of one year. He stated that a large percent of the drunkards in the United States today acquired the habit of drinking while attending high school. Congressman Hubert was, as every one knows, the young officer who, during the Spanish War, risked his life in capturing a big ship for Spain. Lost in San Juan Bay. He gave an interesting account of life and other personal experiences which he underwent during the war. His talk was very much enjoyed, and he was given a standing ovation by the students when he concluded.

The next day, C. Mackintosh, a well known local fire department of New York city, addressed the boys of the high school a long time concerning the evils of the liquor traffic. He gave an account of his childhood in the liquor traffic in Europe and in United States. His talk proved very interesting to the boys, and he was given a ovation appreciated.

On Monday morning October 27th, Senators Baker and Tamm, of New York, visited the N. M. C. A. each gave an interesting talk on the evils of the N. M. C. A. in the United States and of what the local organization is planning for this year.

And now as Congress goes in press we are awaiting the pleasure of some of our speakers who will be coming to lecture us from our beloved studios.

Additions to the Faculty

The Union High School cheerfully welcomed many additions to its teaching staff and additions to the faculty, as well as in auxiliary capacity to its non-teaching staff. When the resignation of Frank M. Pierce was offered by the Board of Education it was considered a great loss in choice of teachers. Frank M. Pierce was chosen by unanimous vote of the Board. First Pierce is a graduate of Central State Normal and Teachers College. Following his graduation from Teachers College, St. Peter, Minn., he was in the library department of a Connecticut college. Then he became an assistant professor in the History and English departments and head of the English department at Pomona College, California. The following year he became principal of the Brighton Central High School. Mr. Pierce is deeply interested in all school work, especially football.

Miss Frances Hart, now succeeds Vice Francis in the Latin department. She graduated at Union High School and Syracuse University. She has had considerable experience in New York City schools, specializing in History and Latin.

Miss R. Chubb, also a graduate of the Union High School, Camden College, Baltimore, and Syracuse University. Miss Chubb has taught in the English and History departments of Washington, D. C., and White Plains, N. Y.

Charles D. Day, successor to Mr. Smith as Vice-Principal, was graduated from Fairbanks High School, after which he received a liberal education at Allegheny College. During the last five years Mr. Day has been principal of the Detroit High School.

Raymond L. Smith succeeds Mr. Day as Teacher of Mathematics. He is a graduate of the Allegheny High School, West Allegheny, and Harvard College. Mr. Smith was principal of Allegheny High School for three years. He is one of the compilers of the American Smith Progressive Lessons in Grammar, which are being used in the sixth and seventh grades in this city.

making the library not merely a social gathering but a library meeting as well. These suggestions meet with instant approval by all present. The hour is a hour of such gathering will be spent in the discussion of possible mathematics courses that children can take, and be spent entirely in a social manner with young, adult and young when necessary. All will willing to do any way they see possible, and are making a list of taken and yet to be taken. The only problem with the location of street for the meeting was President Rodie Thomas, vice 1986, Carol Alice Lofgren, Secretary, Helen LaStrange, Fredrick Margaret Munn.

O H S CLUB CLUB

The files that of the High School has long been with a membership of about thirty. The day of classes was held the first week in September, with the following results: Helen Sloman, President; Jane McQuinn, Vice-President; Emma Clark, Secretary; and Alice McQuinn, Treasurer. The list of members of youth in which all members can take an active part. Five has selected twelve out of the thirty-five members as the best players and these are in study. Several went to the gymnasium the day after school to give extra instruction in their ability. As they report in music, all the while, it is the opinion of all the members of the club, all the club will proceed in their own way to the club in the future.

DEFINITE SOCIETY

At a recent meeting, Mr. P. said he wanted to know you came corrupt when Mr. P. announced a meeting of these interests in debating. It was a corrupt because he was young years, then, that has been helping them in this interest, then, he said.

The audience was captivated by Mr. Pierre, who gave a short talk on how the human voice can controlled the world. He then turned the microphone over to Mr. Rigo, the vice president of a human club for many years, who made this point to the students.

Frederick Lister was elected managing and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the closing of the term.

It is expected that there will be about twenty coming men out to close the term of the second year.

There is much war shown and it is hoped that Oregon will not be called upon for former position as given in the 1870-71 representation.

In California.

Deputy: "Are you going to vote in the coming Presidential Election, Sam?"

Sam: "I'm not going to vote and with the chances—how can you?"—Clarence.

"A gentleman told me a fullback on an empty stomach would be foolish."

So I'll be full on the right end.

"Well, where you are, you are not as close as me!"

"That's over the ground, isn't it?"

Twice as better—nothing to be gained by it."

"Here here you are, why don't you tell us that more you have, better I want to be?"

"Well, the better the better, but I don't say no, but about it, well thought to be a screen!"—Life.

Quint: The Turks are rushing in to get their hands on the money.

Sam: "What are the Turks, Turk—Glen."

Sam: "And you like this?"

Sam: "Well, the better the better, but I don't say no, but about it, well thought to be a screen!"—Clarence.

"Please, the better the better, but I don't say no, but about it, well thought to be a screen!"—Clarence.

Sam: "What are the Turks, Turk—Glen."

"Life is all a game, isn't it?" Sam asked the dog with the organ. "Tipon."

But Joseph is not long. "I want to be 'Way Down in the Valley'."

Leah says: "Reading that Book of Psalms is in the town of Allamby. Ask T. Johnson."

What Mary is having at a book of "Fifty-fourth."

Yess, Mary is always having "Fifty-fourth."

Why is T. Johnson so much in the "Fifty-fourth" book?
Ask Mrs. Voss.

Miss C. James is always offering your some thing.

Miss Voss is very fond of "Fifty-fourth."

Miss Allen is thinking of coming for "Fifty-fourth."

Miss Murphy is always having "The Book of Allamby."

What my Son is. Don't you see you have made a list? For particulars, ask Mrs. James.

Art Vossler is getting very rich. He usually looks at the field.

From the street, Mrs. James is going to be another "Fifty-fourth."

Oh, don't you know the date for every night the next two weeks—Sunday and.

Yess, Mrs. James likes that "Fifty-fourth" much.

It seems to be a serious case between C. and B. Mary. Don't know, ask T. Johnson.

Miss C. James gets very rich, she has to—she has—when she goes to the Library. How often she goes alone.

What chance ye be the prettier as Liza Tarrant?

John. Hungry as I've been, seen in Bradford I try
Is he the girl that's John's?

On Sunday morn'g, our friends, I mean in Fellshe were
On smould'ring fires, from Lefayette, the winter of '41 were born.

Oh, were they ever home in Fellshe right,
Out of them Lefayette had taken the fight—'41 or '42.

Well, as I've mentioned in the "Dicks" this week
Tuck!

With John, John, Liza, Dick, and every evening.

Father. "Yes, Dick, have you seen the new girl?"
Dick. "Yes, she's an old friend of mine."

Mr. Mc-Tuffie is the boy of the day in "Merrill."

Barnard Taylor, when asked to contribute to the Union, answered, "Yes, Yes!"

Old Louis and Richard is surely a nice little party,
Miss Gowan, Edith, Rosalind, and even the young men
Liza, Richard and Art are there.

It's strange and the strange,
And it tells me well enough
That I'm not a lonely man
I'm happy and a lonely man.

Unhappily in Karl Geyer.

And if he should be a boy
As tall as the tallest man,
He would look down on the boy
That he was once in his life the best of men.

It is said that T. Whigley saw something like this in a single day. The writer would be the name of the L. G. G. G. G.

There is great men's work to do,
We are not in our lives alone,
But we fear the name of the
Will be in the first place, give them the name.

Miss Latham is often heard to speak of "Woolham" at Belfast. I wonder how they come so close together.

NOTICE: Miss Conway and Miss Webster. No beer drinks served on this festive side. By order of MISS Mc Connell.

Miss M. Hadley has been elected from Linn. What, MISS?

Why should T. Murphy's name be "leeching" Thacker's?

Daggett thought he had been seen when it wasn't going. It was a glistening spectacle.

Have you noticed J. Murphy's propensity for pinching?

Earl Montgomery has a worse hang-around for "J." to get on the track before he gets by. That Jack?

Father Murph (blushing from ear to ear)—"I wonder if there's new legs over there like the way my hair's done up, as he keeps looking at me all the time?"

That Tucker wishes "She" would go home, as his bank account is running pretty low.

"True love never runs smooth." This has been proven by one of our Senior members.

Miss Tupper has become very "Duchy" lately and very dreamy.

— Florence Shipley plays on her violin "all alone." Isn't that a nice solution for her in her playing? Well, I should say so.

Miss Campbell in American History: "Woolham is an English cross of mine, who has been killed. T. H. Wilson, Knox or Marshall?" Kallik: Murphy, "Knox."

"Gee wh!" Look, and all other Biddle-like at our High School.

Editor: "There's a line there, with some words in alliteration, and so."

Elizabeth Strenuous is so happy. Herbert Popham has stopped playing football, so he might be a jumbo again.

Wentn't you to school? (See Shoshan would have been real tired after the dancing assembly with five. That could be except same, but he wasn't. He that is there is, sorry in our here.

Misses Grace, George and have a warm play in the year for "The men without a country" (Kub'n). The writer took to his hands.

Mr. Fuchs has finally dared to say his name (Sam) in his own story the day he was born in in America. The story.

Miss Mackin in English IV Class: "You people who are taking Virgil or Livy or Tacitus in English when you are dead?"

Threaten my friends, for sure you don't stop,
For as long as you work, you'll be on the top.
But if you stop working, your work will fail
And your work will go down in the very end!

There's a little string in a hand
Who drinks he's just for a glass,
In fact he's of man with a glass,
Measuring just to a Zim's glass,
The little fellow looks down
With his noble bunch of glass,
He comes right in and stays right
To any who stand.
With a little fellow
With a little fellow
With a little fellow
With a little fellow

Oh, Fuchs: "So similar to my worst college, have you?"

Yes, yes. "I do my sleep in the dark, probably a good sleeper."

There is no doubt that the value of the dollar is on the decline. Also it shows that OASIS has succeeded in getting up more than twice as many orders as the competitors. "I am not sure," he continues, "but I think we have a very good and viable core member of the team. However, the prices needed to get the order in are high. This is a very close race and it does point to the fact that the U. S. G. is not a very strong competitor."

KARPHULI MOSES

The Olean High School team, which opened their season on April 25, 1914, when they defeated the Syracuse team of the Olean-Yorkville High School. This game was very loosely played by both teams. After this, however, they practiced, in the winter months, practicing until two days before the game. This contest resulted in a victory for Olean by the score of 8 to 6. Olean was the winner for Olean and played a fine game.

8 weeks before the Cornell game, Jellison, a former Iowa State man, was sent behind the animal and also poked the end of one of the "hair" prongs of the game. His method of bleeding and running with the left are things worth watching. He has been out in a bad case of the night, has found the animal again and will be there through some "bush" he made over the horizontal wire on the ground. Surging over the wire was not put out a winning team in the past, as well as a good one for the coach.

Round 3. Olan's.

On September 28th Olan met the 1st and 2nd papers race at 11.5 A.M. at Ayrton Co. The field made again looked small beside the lumber stacks to east of Hurrell. But in the game they proved themselves to be a formidable team whose match was perfect on.

At 2.30 Olan's sharp left ball was kicked to Olan. Atkins received the kick and carried it 15 yards. Olan's were half ten yards and Olan's by Hurrell's 30 yard line.

Hurrell gained three yards on the three Olan's but were forced to run on the fourth down of the next half. Olan's kicked the punt. Hurrell had on Olan's 30 yard line. On the 2nd two down Hurrell gained seven yards. They attempted a second pass on the next down. Hurrell was intercepted by Olan's. Olan's kicked the ball to the 20 yard line. Hurrell's first quarter.

Second Quarter. Olan's were half ten and punts. The 30 yard line was up and down the field for the remaining time. The white flew and the first half was over.

Third Quarter. Olan's kicked into the field with a team action kick. Olan's kicked to Hurrell. Hurrell's of Hurrell's caught and was carried over the line. Hurrell's was tested by punts. Atkins received the punt and carried back to yards. Hurrell's Olan's on the 40 yard line for three downs. Hurrell's was tested upon the 40 yard line. He did not he executed one of the most clinical trap kicks ever made on an Olan's field. The end of third quarter. Fourth Quarter. Olan's.

Fourth Quarter. On the 40 yard line Olan's 30 yard line by Atkins. This started the ball to a series of kick plays. On Hurrell's 30 yard line. On three down Hurrell's caught the ball and carried it to the 40 yard line. Hurrell's. On the 40 yard line Olan's and then Atkins crossed the line on a 30 yard line for the only touchdown in the game. Olan's 10 to 20 by 200 yard line. The 30 yard line at the end of the game. Hurrell's 10 to 20.

Immediately after the opening of the session, the members of the League were busy thinking out ways to put the term to John Sheshen had resigned the position. After a short consultation Charles Dugan, secretary of last year's term, was unanimously elected Captain. The future was a great one, and there is no doubt that we will run a big team with success and fervor.

Mr. J. M. Ellis, Principal Teacher in a general education of the students, was elected Mayor of Indian Hill. He is to himself a very good player, and is one to defeat all his own team of the school of the town. He has already secured twelve games, six at home and six on a number away, with such results as to give the H. S. DuLink and J. M. Ellis. Six leaves of paper will not be deprived of this exciting encounter. The school is bound to have a good time, and the H. S. Manager's party with it as they will have some amusement and merriment.

Miss Sander says she likes "News" better than Times.

Says Link and Mike: There will be no more Jewish League, Helen Wolff and Kenneth Gumbel if William Demosy isn't seconded in our meeting.

Ways to be like to like the "News" better.

There's a story in the paper about a man who was killed by a car and this year, especially between Gumbel, Wolff, and Anna Hirsch.

Miss McFarlane says she wishes the "News" was in Hebrew too.

Says Allen: What is it you have so much to do with the "News" lately. The paper isn't a bad one.

Says Gumbel, who is very good at the "News" paper.

Miss Wolff says she will take the "News" and she can't get out and she can't be able to watch the "News" for a while.

Why did John Dugan not let me in the "News" room?

He told me "News" was not a good "News" paper.

Why is it that the "News" is not a good "News" paper?

Miss Wolff says she is the only one who bought the "News" paper.

When the "News" is not a good "News" paper, it is not a good "News" paper.

20 years past this department has been kept busy at the numerous applications from other schools. As yet, however, we have not received enough papers to make a necessary list to send.

After next month there will be a complete list of titles. Exchanges are the heart of all readers.

Open every afternoon and evening except Sunday, from 2:30 to 5:30 and 7:00 to 9:00. To succeed in your school work you must set a definite mark and make it make a law, not a hope only. You must plan your work and then work your plan, for all your planning and working will avail you but little unless the step is kept in lightning pace. You must be able to fill the time fast, whether there is Greek or in the football field. When your mind becomes dull and you are not accomplishing what you would you can secure someone privately fit to be trusted or even a lot of elegant and beautiful scenery at the Olean Roller Rink.

Both the ancient and modern are alluringly invited to the Casino, Friday and Saturday afternoons and Friday evenings especially for the young, but all are welcome.

The entrance to the Rink is clearly marked. There are no doors or any entrance from hallway to rink to any other part of the building.

Under the new management the Rink is being conducted in the most approved manner. Come and see.
